Chris-
 It's been real.
 It was great knowing you the past 2 years. Stay
 I'm really glad we had this time together with you looking forward to another year the summer (next year)
 Love always!
 George ("Mitch")

Chris,
 (Trust Doris to be Different/Artsy) →
 Well, Engo was a crock, Bro. was a crock, + the less said 'bout Drivers the better. Maybe we'll get real classes
 next year!

Chris,
 It's been great becoming friends. Stay Original! Stop by in B.B. Good luck with Kline but never forget
 your favorite "tubo player".
 Love!
 Dave

Chris,
 I'm so happy
 we became friends last year. You're a true friend and I hope we remain
 friends forever.
 Stay cute!! Keep in touch all the summer
 w/ Kevin you can also come swimming!
 Love,
 Jill

Chris,
 I'm really glad I got to know you this year. You're a very talented person. Keep up the good work. I know for a fact next year you will be a star at Coburn High. Best of Luck with everything you do. Have a Great Summer.
 Love 1/2 Friendship

Chris,
your father's class
was one of the most fun
I've had in high school. I can see where you get your great sense of humor. I hope your next two years of high school are the best. You can't get too crazy for obvious reasons. Keep up the fun in Y+T. Don't let Miss Rotella become too relaxed. I expect to hear great things about you in the next couple of years. Have a great summer and I'll definitely see you next year.
Maybe we can go to Friendly's sometime. Your strawberry shake was tasty. ~~Daren~~

Chris,
Glad we've been friends.
Maybe we'll be on a problem solving team together next year. We'll have Boring!!! Chinese III next year.
Have a wonderful summer.
Nancy

Christina,
I'm glad we've been friends for so long. I hope it can stay that way for a long time. We'll have to do something over the summer. You can come down the shore sometime, so call me. In case you forgot my is 636-1694. So K.I.T.
XOXO

Chris,
Considering Tom is sitting 4 rows in front of me & I can see him quite well I should be quite imprecisecorrect? Wrong. There is nothing I can write here that you don't already know. You are my best friend. You already know that I value you. We've been through a lot together & I hope to go through a lot more with you in the future. I want you to know I'll always be here for you.
B/F/F
Love,
Jennifer

P.S. Drac
wants to know if you'd like to come to dinner tonight.

"Some Impressions Never Fade"

COLONIA HIGH SCHOOL
East Street
Colonia, New Jersey 07067

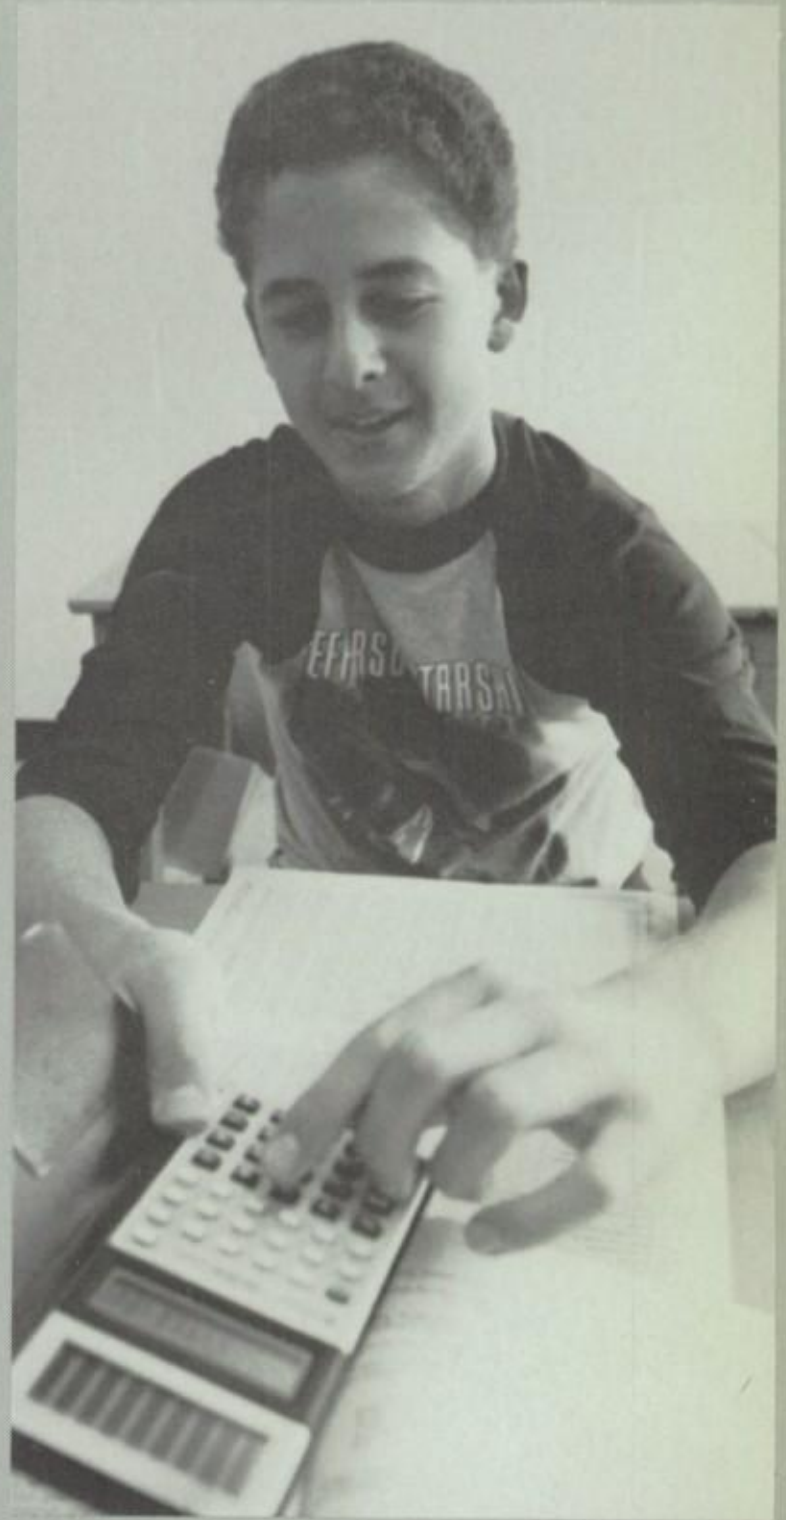

Mr. Robert Sanislow, Principal

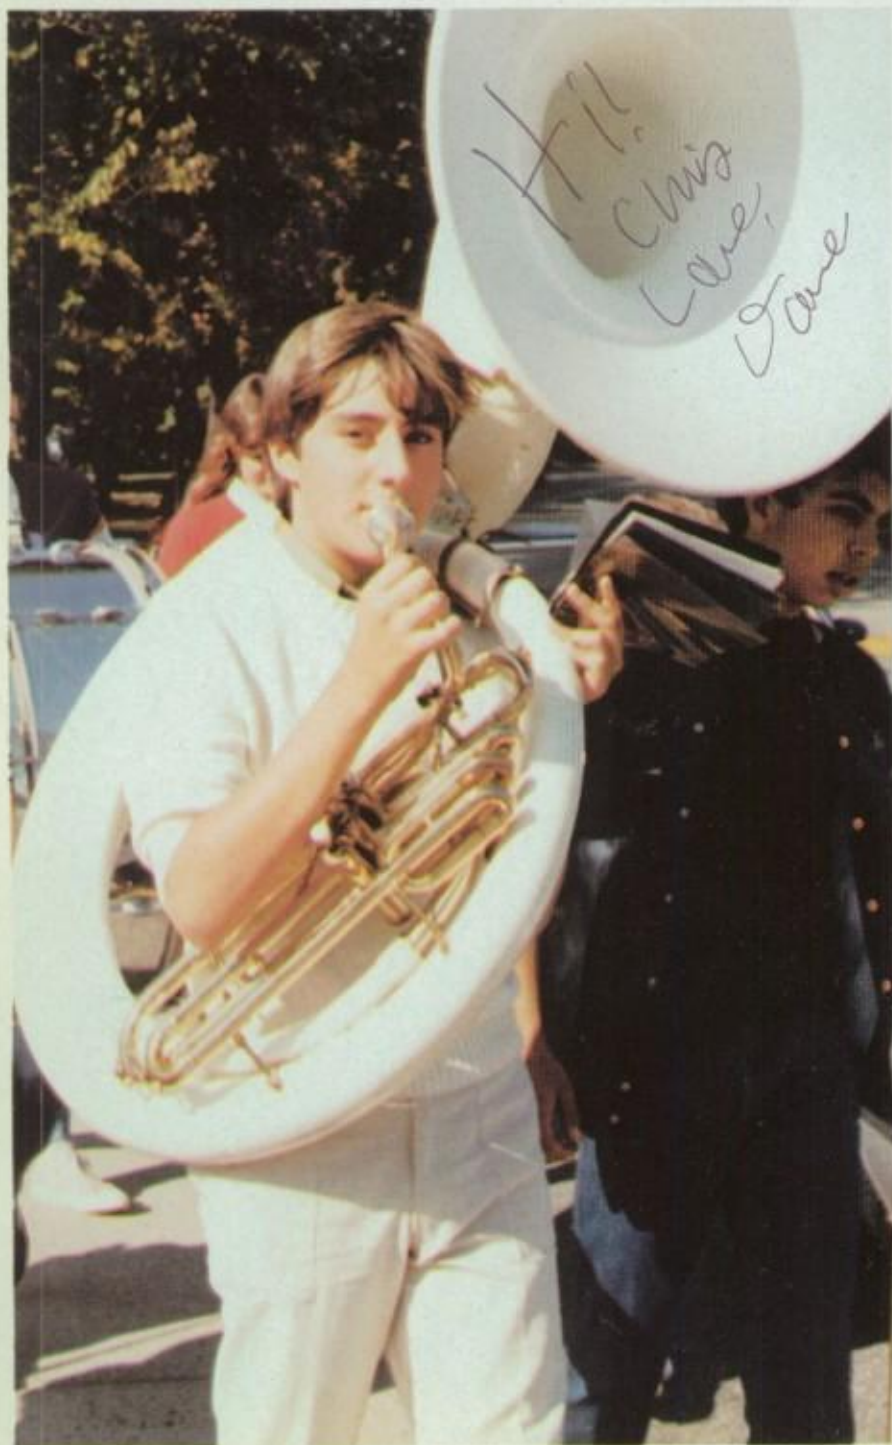

Some Impressions

Our experiences at Colonia High School have given us some lasting impressions. The pep rallies, sporting events, and competitions brought out our newly formed school spirit. Most of us had our first behind-the-wheel experience in driver's education, and our first formal interpretation of the "birds and the bees" in sex education. The Senior Masquerade provided a fun-filled evening while the Junior Cotillion and the Senior Prom enabled us to celebrate with someone special. Arch '86 captures these impressions in pictures and written accounts of events, teachers, and friends leaving us with many humorous, sad, enlightening, and joyful memories of Colonia High.

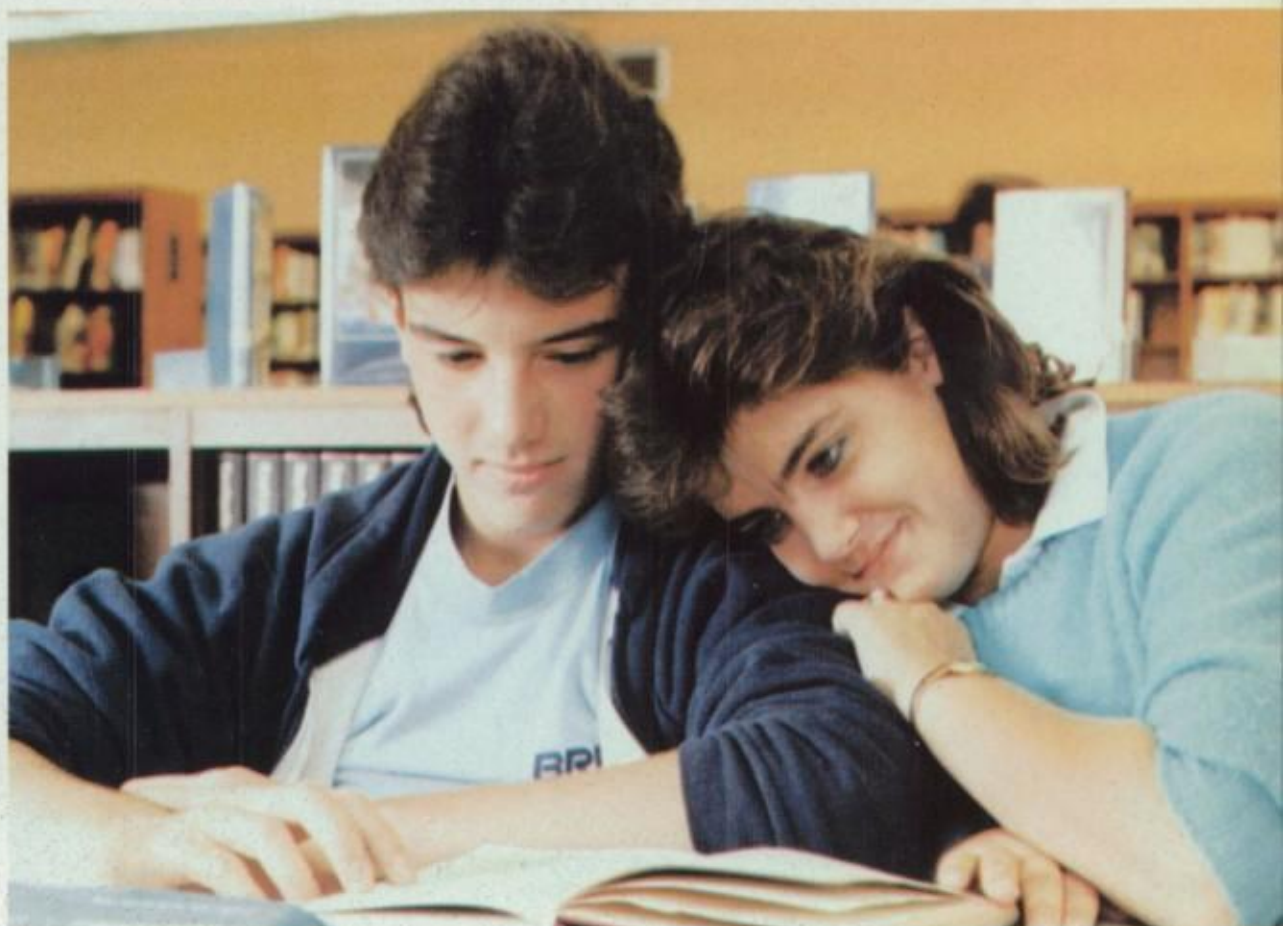

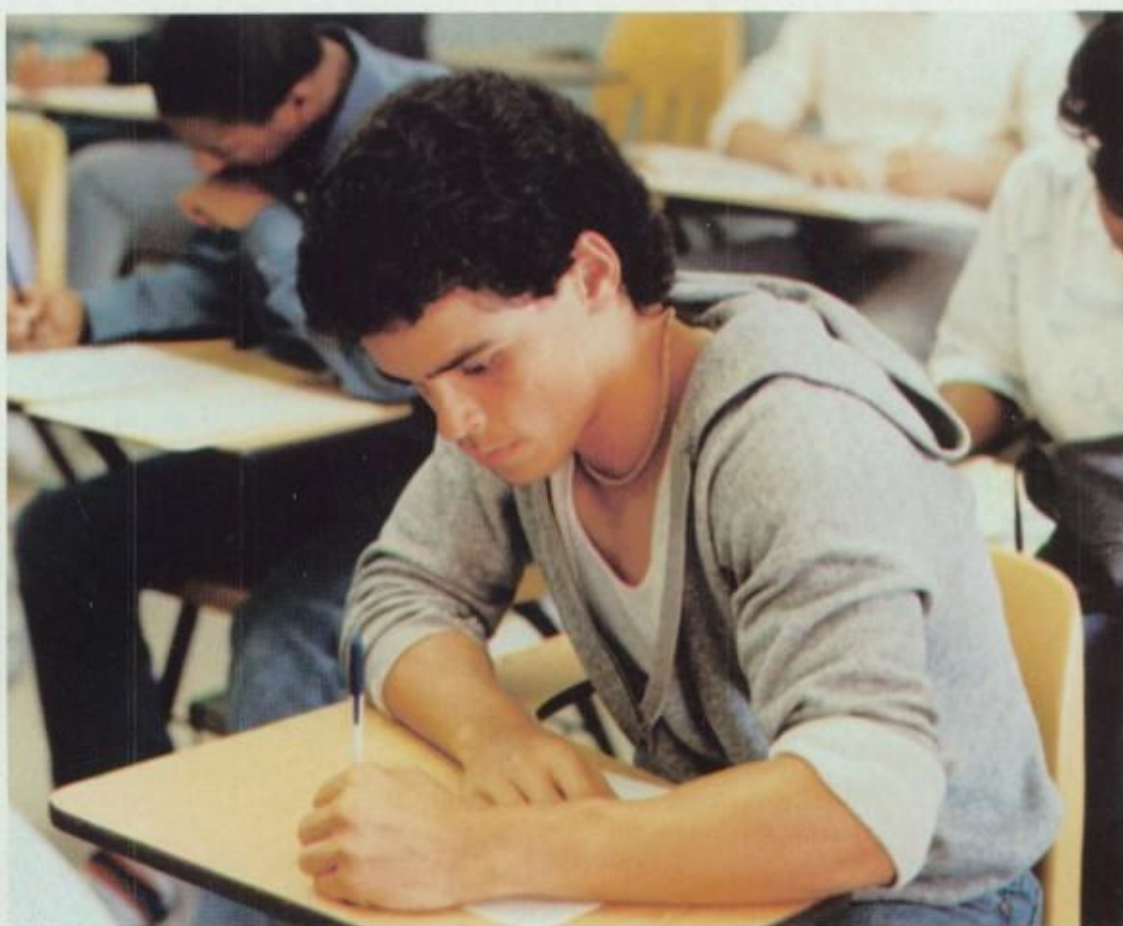

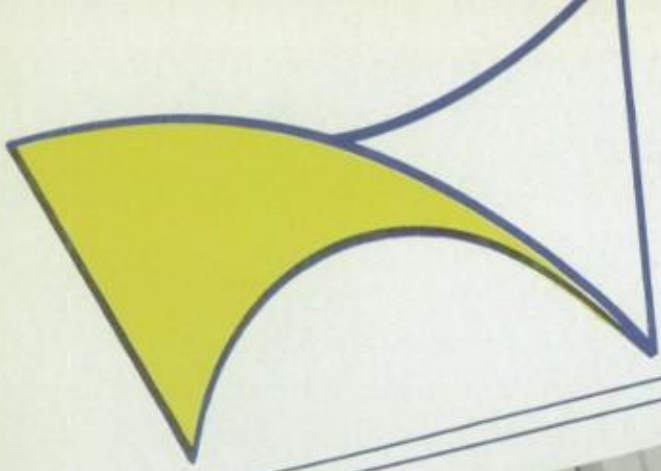

Never Fade

All of the familiar aspects of life at Colonia High School seem very vivid in our minds right now. But in years to come, some of these images will become blurred around the edges, until they eventually disappear from our conscious memories. When you get the urge to reminisce about previous years you've spent at CHS, you have your ARCH '86 available to leaf through. The words and photographs are frozen instants of time that thaw upon reflection. This book is much more than pictures and typescript. Bound between its covers are the impressions that will never fade.

Views

Looking at high school through the eyes of a freshman, the halls seem to be a maze filled with countless students. Countless too are the enriching academic, social, and extracurricular activities available at CHS. Students with a strong desire to learn may see high school as a place to fulfill this ambition by enrolling in challenging courses. Career-oriented students look at Colonia High School, with its COE and CIE programs, as a springboard into a practical working field. Competitive members of the student body regard this school as the opportunity to participate in athletic events, Juggernaut competitions, and forensics tournaments on a county, state, or national level. On a day-to-day basis, high school is the core of social life — the place for dances, football games, and friends. There are an infinite number of ways to look at your experiences at Colonia High School; whatever your perspective, it's almost always a favorable one.

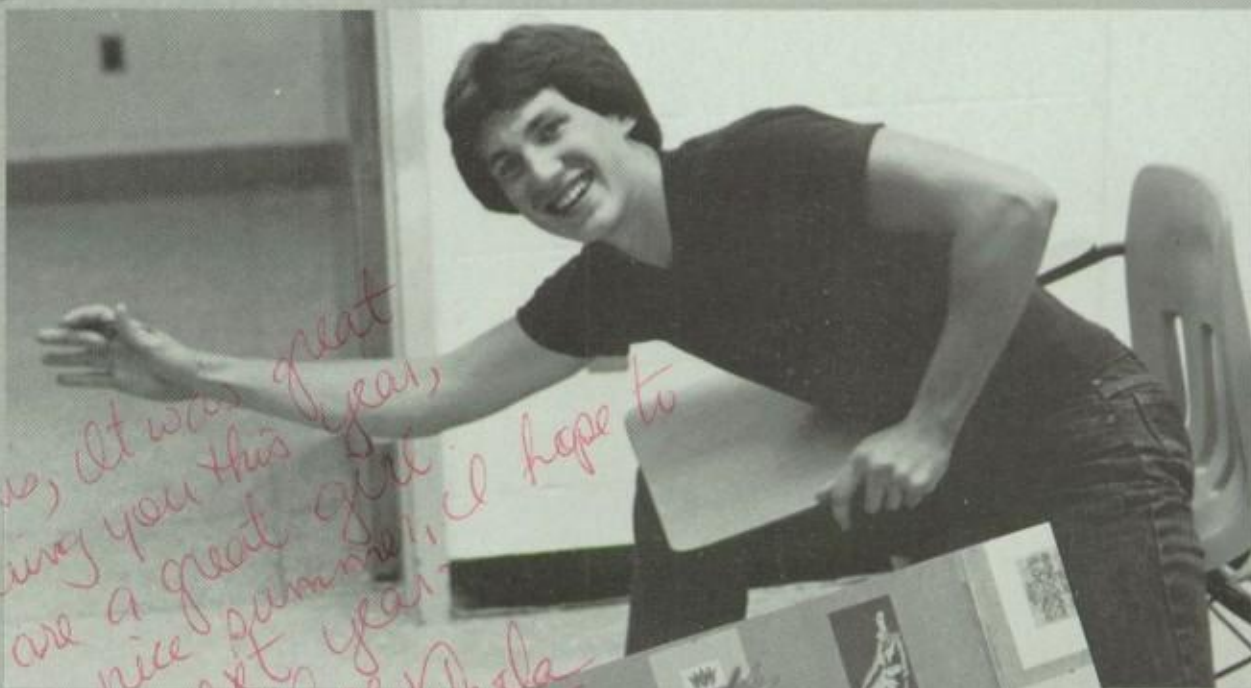

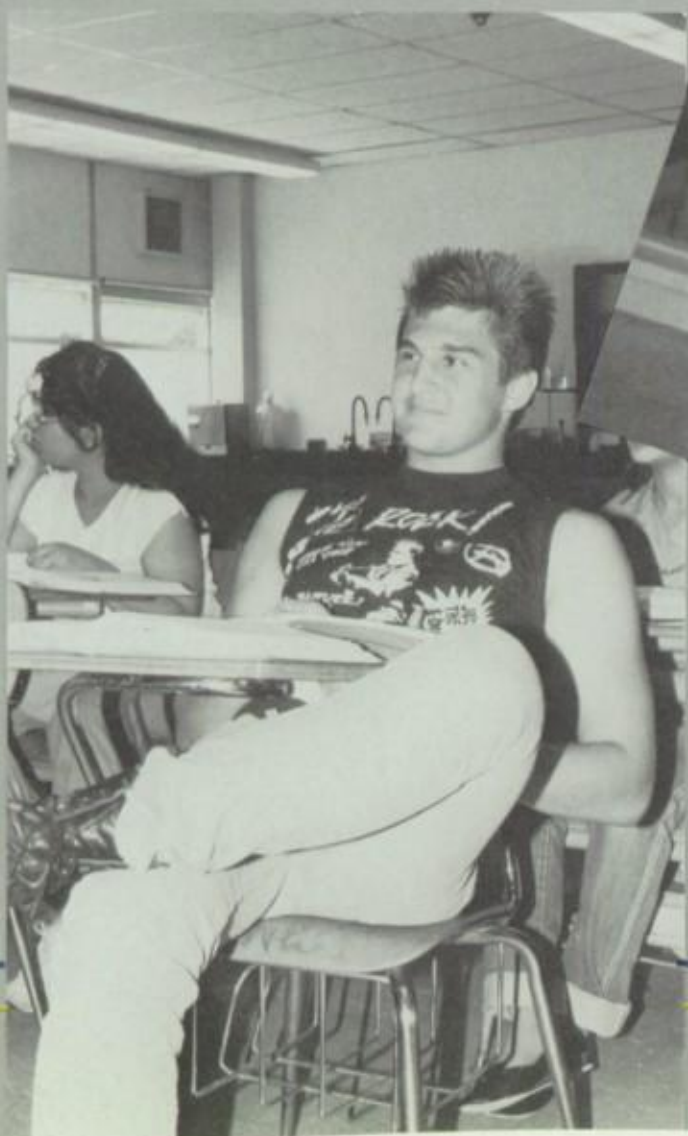

Unique

Chris, it was great
knowing you this year,
you are a great guy,
have a nice summer, I hope to see you next year.
Love, Chela

To Chris, future Broadway starlet,
I have met few other people who are as into "life" as you are - this is such a wonderful quality; one that made Helden + makes you the kind of person you are.
Remember Helden, those perfectly named rehearsals; "on standing ovation." Forget "Tuckers" but don't worry - you'll be staring as Dolly very pretty soon which is "helluva lot better than playing ~~the~~ guitar."
Have a spectacular

at CUS. Keep with the good + get those swimmers brought!
Love + best wishes
always,
Michael

Pete Teresi really belonged to all the clubs he's pictured in.
Mrs. Sienkiewicz stopped exercising.
Tim McKim played classical music.

The Class of 1986 finished in a blaze of glory . . .

We started our journey with candy and towel sales in our Junior year and gained speed and momentum in our Senior year with the magazine sales and the raffle of CABBAGE PATCH TWINS.

Our memorable Colonia High School sporting events excelled, promoting school spirit and excitement. The Fighting Patriots Football team kicked off the season with a victory and continued marching along with the other athletic teams. The Pats were cheered along by loyal parents, fellow classmates, and our administrators with warm enthusiasm that followed us throughout the remainder of our Senior year.

We ascended the ladder towards "HEAVEN" for the Junior Cotillion and greatly enjoyed our visit. Traveling down to the other side, we saw "THE FREAKS COME OUT AT NIGHT" for our sold-out Senior Masquerade. Finally, our Senior Prom will always be the theme of the Colonia High School Class of 1986 . . . "FOREVER".

Through our accomplishments and our achievements, we have grown on many levels. As we pass through the doors of Colonia High School on the evening of Graduation, we will take with us a newfound knowledge of the world, a greater compassion for mankind, and a strong determination to strive and be the best we can be.

Hope to see you in 1991 . . .

Kelly Fischer

Top Twenty

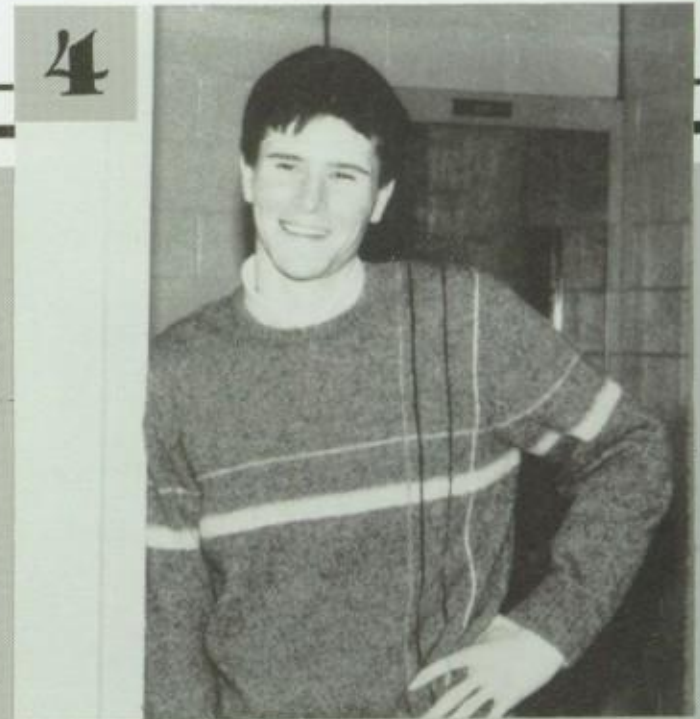

The pursuit of academic excellence is a personal desire that must come from within. There are no cameras, crowds, or headlines to encourage and distinguish one's achievements and abilities. There is no victory party to celebrate an "A" on a report card, only the self-satisfaction of knowing that you have successfully overcome a challenge. It is on these pages that we recognize those "Top Twenty" students of Colonia High whose quiet determination for excellence and self-satisfaction has earned them this modest, yet well-deserved distinction.

Kelly Fischer

"Fish" — Aunt Kelly (ask her about Beth-Ann and Eric) . . . always so busy . . . constantly in the office — to see an administrator or to make morning announcements . . . inherited Senior Class headache as President . . . CHS's master salesperson . . . always selling class mugs, banners, or raffles . . . grew attached to the Cabbage Patch Twins because "they're so cute!" . . . just loves committees — Prom, Masquerade, Magazine Sales, Arch Rep . . . went on on a mad search for the words to the Prom theme . . . not only enthusiastic about class . . . Rah-Rah-Rah! . . . captain of the Cheerleaders . . . at every football and basketball game . . . one special athlete has left his MARK on her . . . she's the better half of CHS's Class Couple . . . wonder who she'll go to the Prom with? . . . with all of this activity, still has time to be a scholar . . . member of National Honor Society . . . loves the shore — especially Ocean Beach . . . official beach badge checker . . . sees dental hygiene as her future career . . . give me a C-O-N-G-R-A-T-U-L-A-T-I-O-N-S for one of CHS's outstanding students.

Robert Goldstein

Reserved and easy-going . . . not one to blow his own horn . . . great academic accomplishments — second person in CHS's history to earn perfect SAT Math score; English IV in Junior year; Governor's School Scholar; Spanish Honor Society member after a fiery induction; National Merit Scholarship Finalist . . . 10th in class, but still doesn't know how his rank was determined . . . involved — Challenge Team member, trivia master; chief snacker at Juggernauts meetings; Key Club member — bowled for Leukemia Society, visited Children's Specialized Hospital; sported a water buffalo lodge hat for four years as a member of the Marching Band; contributed his writing ability to both the Declaration and the ARCH . . . gave 100% of himself to the school play as the lead Reb Tevya — no one knew he could sing . . . had to perfect the art of debating without notecards, because of intense play practice — also helped him determine which text books make the best pillows . . . only person in Colonia who has read some of the same science-fiction books as Mr. Sefczek . . . growth of penicillin in his locker leads one to foresee a career in medical research for him . . . whatever his future plans — we wish him all the best and — CONGRATULATIONS!

"The Jaz" . . . puts all of his nervous energy to good work . . . #1 in the class — yes, another Valedictorian . . . National Merit Scholarship finalist . . . winner of NCTE Achievement Award . . . attended N.J. Scholars Program at Lawrenceville Prep . . . recipient of Renselaar Polytech Award . . . Voice of Democracy winner . . . skipped English II, took AP in Junior year, and has English V now in a private class with Mrs. Pepe . . . existentialist par excellence — enjoys reading, writing, and using words . . . homework and tests require a microscope and 20/20 vision to decipher . . . very well developed left arm from carrying entire locker all day . . . still finds time to participate after school . . . Editor of the Bard and the Declaration . . . a former "gummy bear" enthusiast . . . member of Juggernauts, TV3 Challenge team, and all tournaments . . . plays violin in orchestra . . . even wears make-up — for the Senior Play . . . gave an outstanding performance as Motel the Tailor in Fiddler of the Roof . . . isn't too bad in ping-pong or pool either! . . . got his driver's license just in time for college . . . Look out Ivy Leagues — Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, U of Pennsylvania, and Rutgers(?) applicant . . . he'll be sure to bring his favorite reindeer sweater for nippy days . . . his ambitions lead him into the law field or the kitchen — he wants to learn to cook . . . no matter which he chooses, he'll be successfull . . . best of luck always, Mike, and CONGRATULATIONS!!

Each year the senior class produces a variety of students who participate in many diversified areas and seem to have one common trait: they excel. This year's outstanding seniors, as chosen by our faculty, deserve our recognition, goodwill, and most of all, our Congratulations!

Theodore Katramados

"Theo" — "Teddy" ... accepts nothing less than perfection ... owns 1/3 of the Valedictorian standing ... N.J. Distinguished Scholar ... N.H.S. president and S.H.S. member ... 2 A.M. is his favorite time of day for homework ... good in science as long as it's his lab ... lunchtime debator ... perfect attendance throughout high school ... trades in books for sneakers every season ... X-country 10, 11, capt. 12 ... basketball 10, 11, 12 ... changed name to Sh-hat to see more court time ... summer at basketball camp ... baseball as a freshman? tennis 10, 11, 12 ... devoted Jets and Mets fan ... remember him on TV? ... challenge team member (matured from scorekeeper to competitor) ... loves having a good time ... dinner every Sunday at Windsor Diner ... always wearing blue and gold ski cap minus pompom (wonder where it is?) ... major contributor to Meadowlands Race Track ... loves "rat runs" to White Castle then shooting a round at Pitch & Putt ... sometimes enjoys Edison more than Colonia ... sees career as statistician at U. of Michigan, Harvard, or Wharton ... "Ted, do your homework!" and CONGRATULATIONS!

Susan Hoefele

Sue ... easy-going manner ... education — a priority item in her life — family feels the same way ... an achiever — Girls' State Representative and Jacob Morgan Achievement Award ... Student Council member ... part of the NHS crowd ... top 10% of the class ... senior year — still getting involved ... Prom Committee and German tutor ... not just the run-of-the-mill school band member ... made a definite commitment to music ... French horn and trumpet — the instruments of her success ... N.J. Region II Band and Orchestra ... New Jersey All State Orchestra ... semifinalist in McDonald's Band ... performs with Suburban Symphony and Community Band ... now that's really commitment! ... involvement extends to personal relationships and her concern for people — Hand-In-Hand ... student on the Advisory Committee to the Superintendent of Schools ... looking to business as a career ... we know she'll give her commitment and be successful ... we'll just say CONGRATULATIONS!

The Class of 1986

Valerie Davis

"Val" — alligator girl . . . Colonia's resident prep . . . penny loafers with actual pennies! . . . never wears only one shirt . . . wears enough clothing in two days to last average person an entire week . . . adds class to CHS sports . . . played soccer 10, 11 — boys' soccer manager 12 . . . played basketball 9 — boys' basketball manager 11, 12 . . . didn't play baseball though — manager 10, 11 . . . switch hitter from player to observer? . . . don't forget her contributions to the ARCH . . . Senior Staff co-editor, Business editor and still smiling! . . . has only one problem in school, as noted in print, she doesn't like to read . . . enjoys playing air hockey, but prefers running stairs . . . do you know what she went to the Masquerade as? . . . neither does she!! . . . loves to be around people . . . has a large family (3 boys and 3 girls) . . . yes, Glenn is her brother . . . obsessed with becoming a camp counselor if anyone will hire her . . . taught CCD at church . . . yes, gets high just thinking about drugs . . . as her career . . . Phila. College of Pharmacy . . . someday, behind a counter . . . until then, "CONGRATULATIONS, Val!"

Anthony Abene

Finds time to do it all — sports, schoolwork, jobs, family, girlfriends, and sometimes sleep . . . overflowing with energy . . . football ever since elementary school — a "Talented Receiver" for CHS . . . keeps everyone awake on ski trip bus rides . . . intramural hockey captain — U-dogs, Canucks, and U-dogs II . . . an over-aggressive CYO basketball player . . . has dreams of Giant Superbowl and Ranger Stanley Cup Dynasties . . . part-time jobs at Kids R' Us and Foodtown and still managed to secure #7 in Top Twenty . . . suspicious of notes from female(?) admirers left on his luxurious green Cadillac . . . can't decide which are better — older or younger women . . . an R-track teacher's nightmare . . . suspended for assaulting a teacher's car with a water rifle . . . steals biology papers with frog tongues . . . may develop cancer of the thigh from leg slapping . . . master debater — hates to lose an argument . . . all night research papers with a half hour nap on the typewriter . . . loves eating — the resident mooch . . . accused of stealing Stephanie's baby food . . . slightly demented — loyal listener of Howard Stern . . . sane enough to desire a career in sports medicine . . . sane or not, we wish you the best of luck and our CONGRATULATIONS!

Donna Schneider

"Schneids" . . . what an all-around person! . . . #11 in class . . . NHS treasurer . . . a true clubber — Forensics, Key, Math, Drama . . . always a brave leader — Honor Guard 10, 11, — captain 12 . . . like Kodak — she brings good things to life . . . responsible for hundreds of smiling faces . . . ARCH photography co-editor . . . definitely on target — Archery team 9, 10, 11, 12 . . . if you ever smell green apple, it's Donna eating lunch between classes . . . very active in Luther League church youth group . . . always selling — raffles, calendars, boosters, candy, etc . . . a really natural person . . . loves camping, water-skiing, and hiking at Lake George . . . especially with full-time partner, Lenny . . . even tried to be a butterfly a few times . . . finds new uses for everything — even Medi-Mart bags . . . caring and compassionate . . . certified W.S.I. lifeguard . . . swimming instructor at summer camp for children . . . even taught her English class how to swim . . . worked as dental receptionist . . . now a vet's assistant . . . future physical therapist . . . best of luck, Donna, and "CONGRATULATIONS!"

Jonathan Cañete

Borys Naumenko

Organization, the name of the game . . . always a leader — USY President; yearbook co-editor with, surprisingly, no second thoughts or regrets . . . three years of Student Council . . . president of Sino-American Club — but only because she loves Chinese food and Mr. Wu, not in that order . . . could have been an Honor Guard Captain, but the yearbook came first . . . needed a small loan to pay nine college application fees and sweat shirts from each school . . . only member of the female persuasion in AP History — hence, "The Minority Youth" . . . knows the secret of successful history debates — never stop talking, whether you make sense or not . . . So stubborn, she won't admit it . . . with sisters Robin and Meredith, really knows the meaning of sibling rivalry — probably makes a good college essay topic . . . can't tell jokes, can only laugh at them . . . could earn some real money at the race track if she bet more than $2 to show on a favorite . . . forces friends to bake cookies and brownies on Saturday nights . . . stubbornly defends the dependability of her '66 maroon Buick . . . feels no shame holding "We want Shahat" signs at basketball games . . . no, she doesn't have a dent on top of her head to hold her glasses . . . wants to meet Mr. Herff of Herff-Jones yearbooks . . . will always feel it is HER yearbook . . . nightmares center around the words "deadlines" and "Copy does not fit" . . . future career — Business Executive with a male secretary . . . We hope you reach all your goals — and CONGRATULATIONS!

Able to balance all things in his life — even rulers on his nose . . . maintained his Valedictorian standing, refusing to catch Senioritis . . . member of NHS, SHS, and a Distinguished Scholar . . . earned his Varsity letter, playing 4 years of soccer for CHS . . . played violin for the orchestra, Senior play, Spanish Honor Society Induction, N.J.'s Central Region Senior Orchestra, and the "Tools" latest cut Baba O'Reilly . . . believes in royalty . . . the king of the thigh slappers . . . portrayed Lord Bute in his history class trial of King George III . . . holds the valedictorian rat-burger eating record at his White Castle . . . could never have completed a research paper without the aid of his computer . . . hands in most homework on freshly printed computer paper . . . enjoys sharing computer software with a Biology teacher who shall remain nameless . . . with three Advanced Placement courses, he hates wasting time sleeping, but he does anyway . . . studies cartoons more than history . . . does great voice imitations: "Put on your old gray bonnet with the blue," and "Heeee, I got a whole lotta lumps" . . . sees a future career in medicine where he thinks the bucks are . . . well, we hope he finds them . . . Good luck, Jon, and CONGRATULATIONS!

"Spike" . . . CHS's resident Billy Idol . . . his hair — spiked straight up and down . . . definitely most unique attire . . . army fatigues, colorful headbands everywhere but on head, combat boots, strange T-shirts, sunglasses, unusual accessories . . . see his photograph in the TNT as a "trend setter"? . . . went as himself to the Masquerade . . . allergic to preppie clothing . . . even wore a toga to school . . . an unusual scholar . . . only Latin 4 student . . . in school every morning at 7:15 for class with Mr. Chukinas in pseudo-classroom . . . dynamic debater in AP History . . . very strong values — not easily moved Ukranian by birth but as American as Mom and apple pie . . . ambassador of school spirit . . . runs around sporting events and pep rallies with Colonia flags . . . attends every cheerleading competition . . . extremely dedicated . . . Soccer 9, 10, 11, captain 12 . . . Wrestling . . . 9, 10, 11, captain 12 . . . Varsity Club . . . remains heartthrob of Freshman girls . . . loves New Wave music and slam dancing . . . King of Impressions — an Irishman, a Russian, and even Pee Wee Herman . . . after graduation heading towards military career in U.S. Armed Services . . . Be careful Borys, good luck, and CONGRATULATIONS!!

Every year, we seniors choose
Our favorites in clothes and shoes
Perhaps high fashion or "far out"
The Senior Poll talks all about
The quiet ones who don't say much
And then to those who get in touch
With artists hidden inside
A pen or canvas — we take pride
In our achievements — big or small
Our spirit moves us to tell all
We cheer at games and spread our sound
That's how our message gets around
The rest of the school knows where we stand
The Senior Poll now takes command
Some will laugh and some will shout
Just understand — THE NEWS IS OUT!

"The Freaks Come Out at Night"

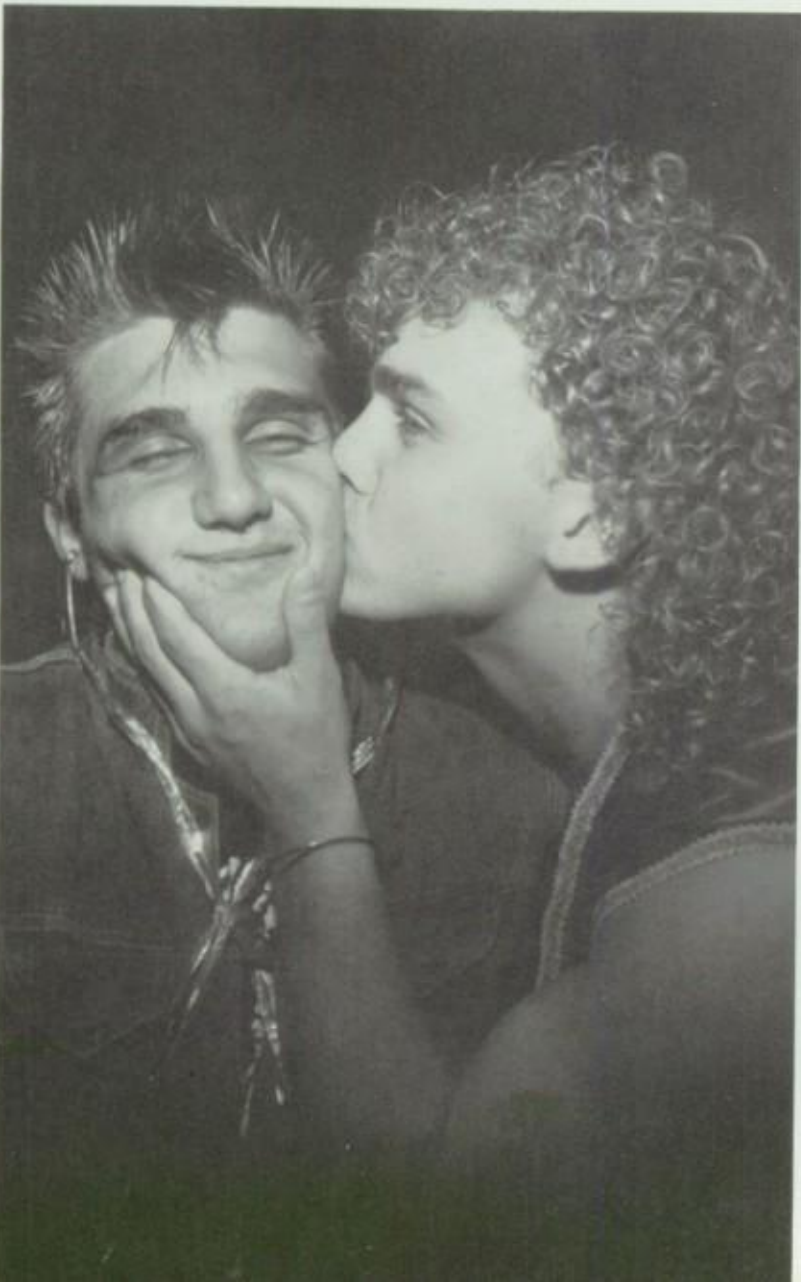

The Colonia Gazette received a call that Colonia High School was expecting strange visitors on the night of Oct. 26, 1985. This reporter had the job of covering the story. I arrived at CHS at approximately 8 P.M. and this is what I saw:

A pair of sneakers sprint past me and across the gym floor, trying desperately to get away from the vampires and ghouls that had temporarily taken up residence in the building. Looking around what may have been a gym, I spot some rather odd combinations — pirates and clowns dancing together. How strange!! No wonder I got a call. This really looks as though it could turn into some story. Let me investigate a little more. I'll just move to the other side of the room.

Now that I'm here, I can see what everyone means. These people are nothing but a bunch of freaks. I can't believe they're staring at a gypsy who is standing near the graveyard and laughing. Gypsy?? Graveyard?? Am I seeing things, or is this all really happening?? The strangest part of this is that no one seems frightened. They're dancing and laughing and having a good time. This is my big story? I'll never make editor-in-chief this way.

It's just about time to leave. I guess the people at CHS define freak differently than the rest of the world . . . I suppose I'll just have to wait until Halloween to see the real freaks. I'll say my good-byes to the Playboy bunnies and Indiana Jones and get back to my desk. Maybe if I'm lucky, I'll have a real story waiting for me . . .

Royal Impressions

The crowd rises to its feet as the entourage of Corvettes, courtesy of Woodbridge Corvette Club, slowly parades Colonia High School's royalty onto the field. The girls, Sherri Eisenberger, Maria Francese, Debbie Homiak, Erica Longenhagen, and RoseAnna Sasso, draw cheers as they wave enthusiastically to the crowd. The event is C.H.S.'s fifth annual Homecoming — November 2, 1985.

The selection of the Queen began several weeks ago. Initiated by the Student Council and Mr. Sefczek five years ago, the Homecoming event caught on and easily became a tradition. Clubs and organizations cast their ballots for the Queen. And the winner . . .

The announcer calls Sherri Eisenberger's name and she takes her place of honor. Valarie Clemente, last year's queen, performs her last official act by crowning Sherri Colonia High School's 1985 Homecoming Queen.

The last Corvette leaves the field and its back to a serious game against Sayerville. It seems only minutes later that the fans enjoy the second treat of the day — Colonia emerges victorious once again.

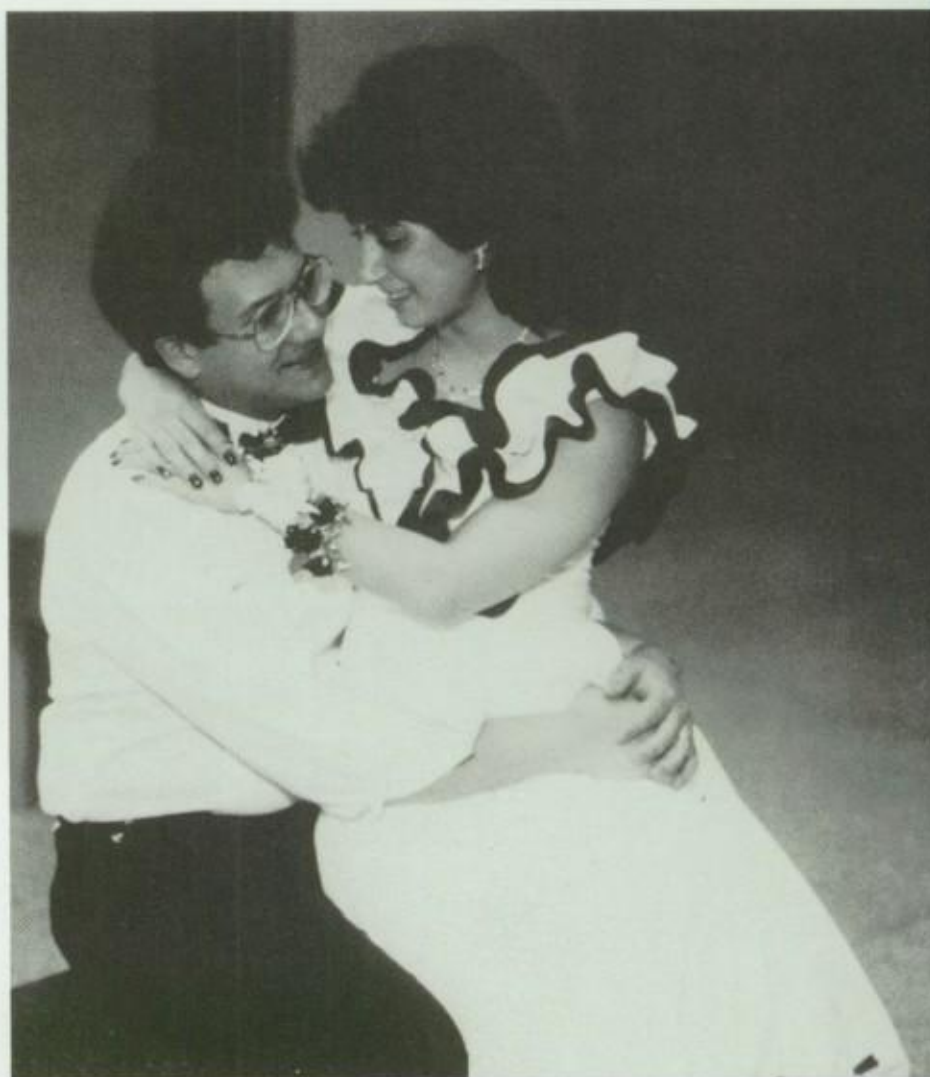

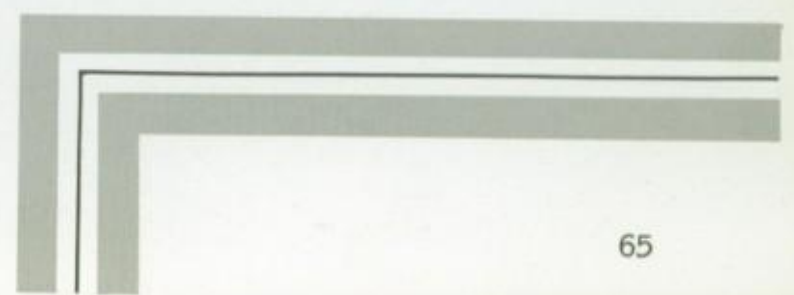

"HEAVEN"

It has been said that "In the spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love". In CHS during the spring of '85, junior boys thought of tuxedos, corsages, and dates while junior girls were preoccupied with gowns and their "special night". For some, April 26, 1985 would mark a kind of milestone in their lives; it would be their first formal, complete with accents of pink, silver, and burgundy. The photographer would be there to capture their images on film, preserving the memories.

The evening was non-stop, or so it seemed. The primary activities were dancing, feasting, and enjoying the company of friends. All too soon, the night was ending. The music might have stopped, but the impressions of "Heaven" would never fade.

A CLASS ACT

Real Students of CHS

Perhaps you have read or have heard of the book Real Men Don't Eat Quiche. It explains what to do, and what not to do, in order to be considered a "Real Man". Well, here's some rules to follow in order to be a "Real Student" at Colonia High School.

Real Freshmen travel in packs through the hallways.
Real Freshmen have older brothers and sisters at Colonia whom they beg to drive them to school, football and basketball games, and any other place they want to be seen by their friends with upperclassmen.
Real Freshmen try to appear cool and relaxed as they walk through Senior hallways.
Real Freshmen refuse to be cut in front of by upperclassmen in the lunch lines.
Real Freshmen try all year to collect enough nerve to try to get into a Senior party.
Real Freshmen try to carry as few books as possible in the hallways. (heavy books slow movement through the hallways, and are difficult to collect when knocked all over the floor — some Freshmen remedy this problem by carrying their entire locker in gym bags which never leave their sides)
Real Freshmen are smart enough not to try to talk to Senior Football players (unless, of course, they are asking for autographs — and address them as "Mr. _____").
Real Freshmen will use school bathrooms, but only when absolutely necessary and when a teacher is standing somewhere close-by.
Real Freshmen can't wait to be Sophomores so they'll have someone to pick on.
Real Freshmen order yearbooks early, because they believe Senior yearbook representatives who warn them that there won't be enough yearbooks for them in June.

JUNIORS

Real Juniors celebrate Senior Hooky Day with their Senior friends.
Real Juniors put off doing research papers until the weekend before they are due.
Real Juniors assumed they would have an easy year when they got Mr. Bisler instead of Mr. Peterson for U.S. History I.
Real Juniors attend every Senior party without fear.
Real Juniors start training to be seniors by being loud and obnoxious at home.
Real Juniors park their cars illegally on school property.
Real Juniors are asked to go to the Senior Prom.
Real Juniors rent limousines for the Junior Cotillion before they find out it's in the gym.
Real Juniors feel that they are too young to start worrying about colleges despite the talk of guidance counselors.
Real Juniors manage to get either an eighth period gym or study hall.

SOPHOMORES

Real Sophomores are glad they now have Freshmen to pick on.
Real Sophomores hope they didn't look as small as the new Freshmen look to them.
Real Sophomores attend all major school sporting events in order to feel a part of the school spirit.
Real Sophomores believe that upperclassmen can tell them apart from Freshmen.
Real Sophomores finally have a bench to change at in the locker rooms instead of standing outside the cages by their lockers.
Real Sophomores try not to associate with Freshmen, but are usually forced to because no one else will associate with them.
Real Sophomores are forced to buy most of the Junior class candy because Freshmen never bring money to school.
Real Sophomores are too anxious to drive after taking Driver's Theory.
Real Sophomores begin to dread the day when they will be subjected to mounds of History I & II homework.
Real Sophomores attempt to sell pool and elevator passes to Freshmen to get back some of the money they spent for them the year before.

SENIORS

Real Seniors break up packs of Freshmen travelling through the hallways.
Real Seniors refuse to drive their little brothers and sisters any place where they will be seen with their puny unpopular siblings.
Real Seniors mock on nervous little Freshmen running quickly through the hallways.
Real Seniors never wait in lunch lines behind underclassmen.
Real Seniors wish some Freshmen would come to their parties so they could finally determine how many different possible ways a Freshmen could be humiliated.
Real Seniors never apologize when they "accidently" knock down a stack of books held by weary Freshmen.
Real Seniors refuse to recognize any Freshmen even when addressed as "Mr. _____" and "Miss _____". (Of course Senior football players will stop to sign autographs, but refuse to talk to these underclassmen.)
Real Seniors let Freshmen use the bathrooms, but only when absolutely necessary and when a teacher is standing somewhere nearby.
Real Seniors can't wait to go to college so they can cut classes without getting suspended.
Real Seniors don't order yearbooks. They buy them in June because they know that they get first choice over underclassmen.

To the Class of 1986:

We, the class of 1987, wish you well in your future endeavors. We consider our years with you a learning experience, one we will remember after you have gone. Success, happiness, and the best life has to offer — these are our wishes for you.

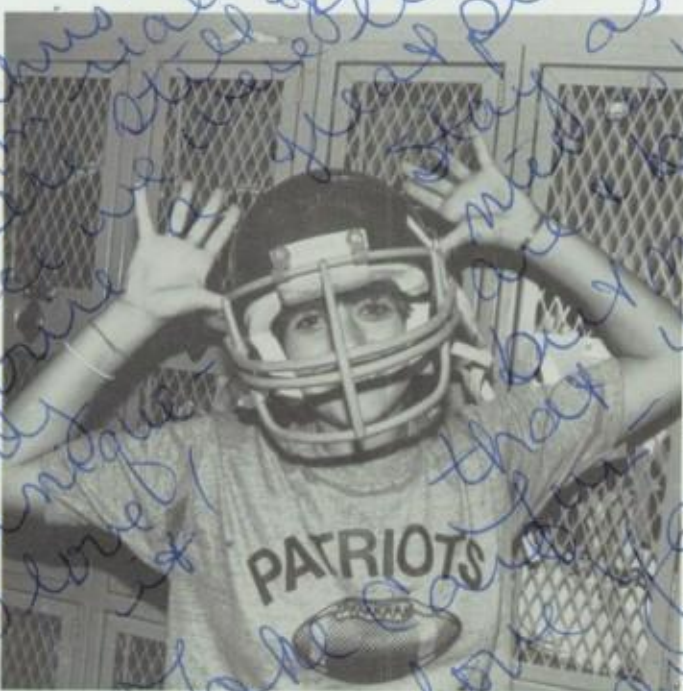

Sincerely,

The Class of 1987

ADVISORS:

Mrs. C. Matviak
Ms. J. Kirby

Having moved effortlessly through our freshman year, we landed at the doorstep of the second plateau in our climb towards the pinnacle of success. Quickly we established ourselves as leaders in academics and athletics. We're now ready for our final two years of high school. The best is yet to come. Congratulations to the Class of 1986.

Sincerely,
The Sophomore Class Officers

SPIRIT

LONIA is HI.

"Education has for its objective the formation of character."

Herbert Spencer

Education is a field that requires a joint effort in order to succeed. By definition, a teacher is one whose profession is to instruct. A student is one whose goal is to learn. Education is the bond linking the people and their goals. The stronger the link, the more easily attainable are the respective goals of each party. The strength of this link depends on the effort and motivation of everyone involved.

Here at Colonia High School, the faculty is truly motivated. This is apparent in the aura of friendliness and caring of the administration, as well as the consistent dedication of the teachers. They have successfully devoted themselves to upholding standards of instruction which stand out among others.

Of course, each teacher is unique and therefore sets out to accomplish his or her own goal, using a distinct style. Some emphasize discipline, others encourage creativity, and still others stress academics. Though the methods may be different, our teachers give maximum effort to everything they do. Since education is symbolic, it is therefore our obligation to approach this learning with vigor and enthusiasm. The cooperative effort is sure to be a success, resulting in fulfillment, pride and respect.

There should be no doubt that our teachers have had an effect on us — sometimes drastically, sometimes subtly, most often, importantly. After spending many weeks under the instruction of a faculty member, we all have painted a richly detailed portrait of his or her personality. It is this likeness which we can forever carry in our memories. Looking back at our renditions of their personalities, perhaps we can all spot a part of ourselves.

LEGENDS IN OUR TIME

There are some faculty members in each department of our school who, through the years, have earned enormous amounts of our respect. They are well-known throughout Colonia High School, and are characterized by their patience, understanding, ability, and above all — dedication. Willing to sacrifice their time for CHS, they often take on added responsibilities, such as organizing, overseeing, coaching, or advising extracurricular activities. In the several pages that follow, we wish to express our gratitude to these teachers who have always been there for us, by highlighting their many accomplishments. It is but a small acknowledgement for such a worthy achievement, but we want each and every one of these staff members to know that we will continue to honor their fine dedication to CHS through our everlasting memories of their expertise and understanding.

MR. SANISLOW

“... A Delicate Balance ...”

Trout season is open and along the banks of a secluded stream looms a tall figure. Complete with hip boots and vest, the man casts his line into the stream. Hours later, the exhausted but contented man packs his gear and leaves. Sound familiar to you? Those people who know Robert Sanislow are smiling. Yes, the man who is the principal of Colonia High School loves trout fishing and the great outdoors — and basketball — and kids — and education — and his family — and ...

If Mr. Sanislow sounds like a busy, involved man, it's because he is. As principal of Colonia High School, he's constantly on the move. Aside from his job-related duties, he believes he has responsibilities to the students and staff as well. He knows that a machine runs well only if all the parts are operating. Colonia High School is like a "big machine," and it runs so well because every "part" works together to insure that. Mr. Sanislow is concerned about the academic and athletic success of Colonia's students. He's proud to present awards at Awards Night and equally proud to accept a trophy from one of Colonia High School's many fine athletic teams.

The former Scarlet Knight combined love of basketball with education and became a teacher-coach. The discipline of a coach carried into his administrative days when he became vice-principal and later principal of Avenel Junior High School and Colonia High School.

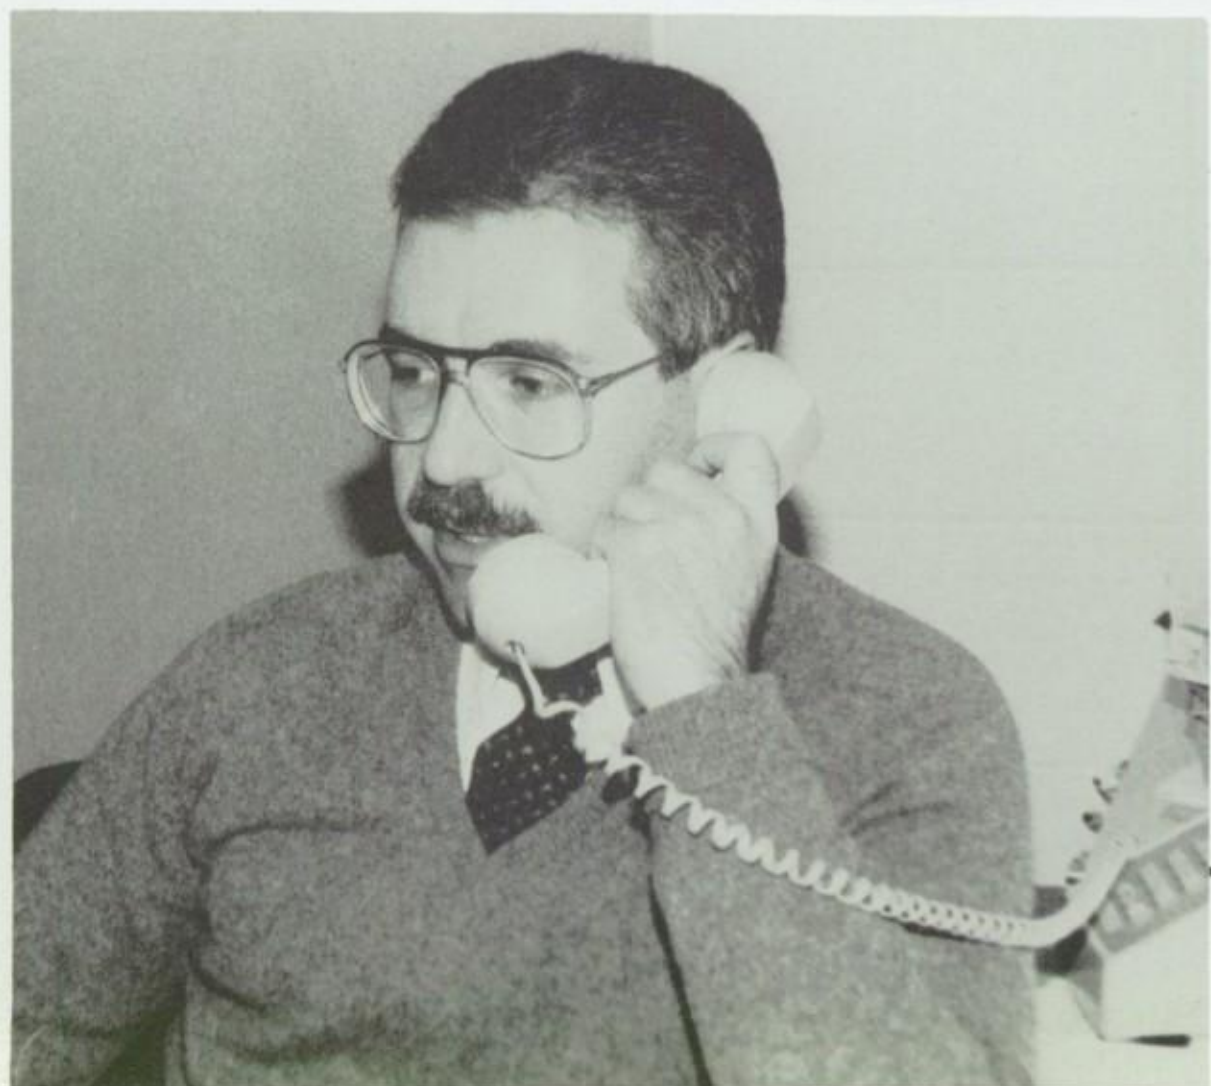

Like his teams, the schools he was in charge of ran smoothly and achieved success. Only one thing in Mr. Sanislow's life is more important than the desire to succeed. His wife, Judy, and daughter, Susie, are an integral part of his life outside of Colonia High School. Camping on a beach in North Carolina, visiting Yellowstone Park, and spending endless hours enjoying the beauty of Cape Cod — all these things have given Mr. Sanislow time to spend with his wife and an opportunity to watch his favorite "little girl" grow into a lovely young woman.

In all aspects of his life, Mr. Sanislow believes in a "delicate balance." Whether at an athletic event or in a classroom, with student or staff member, life is never simply black or white. Individual differences come into play. Mr. Sanislow takes the best a person has to offer and turns it into a winning combination. Seeing the positive side of people and the willingness to give of himself to others make him a fine educator, coach, principal and friend and — a legend Colonia is not likely to forget.

"I've Got Just The Job For You."

MR. BARMANN

The gentleman in the three-piece suit stands quietly outside of Mr. Reiner's office. Looking like an attorney or a banker, we imagine that he has some school-related business to discuss. We're right — except the gentleman, Joel Barmann, is part of the business of this office.

Mr. Barmann has been a member of the Colonia High School staff for many years. He began in the social studies department and made his move to guidance with the first opening. He is actively involved with the college-bound students as the supervisor of the SAT program. Mr. Barmann is also the man to see if you need a job. As Job Placement Counselor, he is instrumental in matching students to jobs.

Though apparently quite reserved, Mr. Barmann is nevertheless a caring individual. Bringing bagels and cream cheese to SAT proctors is not uncommon for Mr. Barmann. As part of the scholarship committee, he does his part to see that deserving students are the recipients.

Though Mr. Barmann has a rather dry sense of humor, it is still appreciated. Recently, in a teachers' meeting, he was asked to note the similarities and/or differences between Christopher Columbus and Neil Armstrong. He simply replied: "There is no city in Ohio named after Armstrong."

Outside of school, Mr. Barmann has a number of interests. Photography and celebrity pictures rank high on the list as do Governor Kean and Mayor Koch. Mr. Barmann enjoys the theater as well. When he finally finds the time to relax, he enjoys reading a good book.

Mr. Barmann has given of himself to students in his charge as well as others. We appreciate your efforts and thank you for your concern.

MR. MARTIN

C.I.E.:

Certainly Involved in Everything

Seeing Mr. James Martin, one cannot help having flashbacks from numerous Marlboro ads. His rugged appearance, accompanied by a cheerful smile and warm personality make Mr. Martin a very special person.

Through the convincing words of his shop teachers, Mr. Martin was persuaded to enter the field of education. Currently at CHS, he teaches Graphic Arts, and Occupational Graphics, and coordinates the Cooperative Industrial Education Program (CIE). His help, encouragement, and guidance has influenced many of his students to enter the architectural field.

When not busy with school activities, Mr. Martin makes full use of his free time. His complete home wood working shop allows him to create and build at his leisure. In the winter, one may have the chance to witness him conquer the mountains on one of CHS's ski club trips to Vernon Valley or Camelback. The summer gives him a chance to thaw out and ride the waves on either a surfboard or sailboat — Miami Vice, look out!

Being born in Maine and growing up in San Francisco Bay area has obviously influenced Mr. Martin's lifestyle. In between attending Trenton State College and graduating from California State University at Long Beach, he served as a member of the U.S. Army. This perfect image of a "macho guy" fades when women learn that he is happily married to his wife of fifteen years. Mr. Martin is truly a legendary individual, positively affecting and influencing many lives at Colonia High School.

"It's Post Time!"

Walking through the language wing of Colonia High School, one cannot help but hear a booming voice and spot a prominent figure leaning on a creaking podium — both unmistakable characteristics of Mr. Cornelius Post. For the past eighteen years, since the opening of our school, Mr. Post has made his presence felt among students and teachers both in and out of school.

Because he has been part of Colonia High School since its beginning, Mr. Post has a special closeness with the school, shown by his great school pride and spirit. He has been recognized on numerous occasions at Colonia High School football games behind the flimsy disguise of his Foster-Grants. He wishes more students would join in with the school spirit and attend the many and varied sporting events in which Colonia High School students compete.

Mr. Post is proud of the academic achievements of Colonia's students. He has been the advisor for the National Honor Society for more than ten years. In the classroom, Mr. Post likes to mix learning with fun. He really enjoys being a part of the learning process, and teaching Spanish enables him to introduce new areas of information to students and expose them to a glimpse of one of our world's societies. In Mr. Post's classroom, a "Burro mas grande" is not only your friend who forgot his book in his locker, but it is also a large donkey used in South and Latin America to carry heavy loads.

Outside of school, Mr. Post is a big sports enthusiast, although this past season, his favorite football team, the St. Louis Cardinals, left him with little to cheer about. Well, there's always next year. In the meantime, he'll have to be content with his model trains, at least until summer when he can relax by the pool and do some vacationing with his wife, Elsie, and his daughter, Christina.

Mr. Post truly enjoys teaching and working with kids. He can frequently be seen walking through the hallways with his leather covered thermos of coffee, sharing the latest jokes with students. He has seen many changes in students through the years, the most drastic being the positive directions and goals students have set for themselves. More than ever, they now know what they want to do after graduation, and what fields they want to explore. Mr. Post's school spirit and pride, personality, advising, and teaching have made him a legend of Colonia High School.

MR. R.J. CLARK

"The Candy Man"

Colonia High's English Department has its own ambassador from Ireland. He's Robert J. Clark, affectionately known as "R.J." This sometimes smiling face has been a part of Colonia High School almost since its opening. What is so incredible about him is that he's never changed in all that time.

Colonia's own "Bob Newhart", R.J. had a desire to teach early in life. Nurtured by his grandfather, who was also a teacher, he pursued that goal. Can you imagine this? Mr. Clark once considered office management as a career. How fortunate for us that he decided to teach instead. Actually, the business world is also fortunate. Just picture Mr. Clark's filing system. Those of us who have had him in class can certainly react to this with a smile.

Mr. Clark believes that reinforcement and repetition are important strategies in education. Patience and understanding are characteristics he probably doesn't know he has, but those of us who know him realize he has them.

We also know lots of other things that make Mr. Clark's class unique. Where else would a teacher start hand-outs in the middle of the room? Sometimes, he even manages to reach everyone. Ah, yes . . . dittoes. Between quizzes and classwork, notes and assignments, Mr. Clark may someday wipe out Woodbirdge Township's paper supply.

When he's not inundating his seniors with work, he's spending time with family and friends. A great old movie buff, he's always searching to see if new films will ever compare to the classics. Biographies of famous people also fascinate him and he keeps up with the latest ones.

Aside from his teaching duties, he is Colonia's candy man, working closely with the Junior Class to insure that their Senior Prom bids are not out of reach.

Whether teaching or working with kids raising money, Mr. Clark is and always has been a good teacher and good friend to his students. Because he's been here quite awhile, your brother or sister may have experienced his teaching. I'm sure that they, too, will agree: R. J. Clark, the mild-mannered English teacher, is certainly a legendary figure at Colonia.

The Oldest Senior at CHS

MRS. BROWN

Although Mrs. Brown may be known by most people as the staunch supporter of the Senior class who sings choruses of "Support the Senior Class" in the math wing, her main reason for being at CHS is not to produce cut-rate prom bids. Her past fifteen years at Colonia have been spent fulfilling her childhood dream — being a teacher.

Mrs. Brown is a devoted teacher who truly enjoys working with students. She can often be seen as late as 5:30 in her classroom giving extra help to students who need personalized attention in order to fully grasp difficult mathematical concepts. Those who have been in any of her Math Analysis or other Math Classes know of her exceptional ability to present material in a clear, detailed, and comprehensible manner, that solves all "Questions, Problems".

When Mrs. Brown isn't busy teaching or giving extra help, she is occupied with her duties as the Senior Class Treasurer and Prom Chairwoman. This year, Mrs. Brown had to do the impossible — save the Senior class from financial ruin. Her hard work and dedication in organizing profitable fund raisers saved many senior from taking out personal bank loans in order to afford their prom.

Outside of school, you may find Mrs. Brown cheering at a football game. Also, if the Giants ever make it to the Super Bowl, you can be sure that she and her husband will be there. If you're not a football fan, you might still catch her on one of her shopping trips which she readily admits is her favorite pasttime. All those who have been taught by her, worked with her, and have been helped by her, agree that she is definitely a legend in our time.

MR. R. CLARK

CHS Bandstand

Those students fortunate enough to have known Mr. Richard Clark in their years at CHS know of his dedication to teaching and the enjoyment he receives working with children. He says that he has seen students change through the years, and they now seem more talented than ever.

Mr. Clark is able to encourage these talents in both his World Civilization and U.S. History II classes. He jokingly says that he became a teacher because he loves having summer vacations. Such breaks from teaching allow Mr. Clark to pursue his favorite activities — hunting, fishing, and traveling. These interests were nurtured in Minnesota where he was born and raised. Rumor has it that he voted for Walter Mondale for President, but it is difficult to get him to admit this. After school, Mr. Clark devotes much of his time in winter to the boys' and girls' bowling team as their coach, and travels outdoors in spring as the boys' tennis coach.

When not busy with school activities, Mr. Clark's time is occupied by his wife and four children. It appears that Mr. Clark is trying to raise a bowling or tennis team of his own. Of course he'll need a few more to fill in as substitutes and third singles. To all of us who have had Mr. Clark, as a teacher, coach, or friend, he is truly a legend in our time.

"An Apple Ile a Day"

MR. SEFCZEK

Who is this man who runs the Student Council and is the mastermind behind Homecoming? Surely, you must have seen him at the Senior Masquerade. He was the one dressed as a school teacher reading a book. Rumor has it that he was going to dress as a Smurf, but his daughters stole his blue face paint. Mr. Sefczek avoids the limelight, but those students lucky enough to have had him can tell you that he is a unique person.

The only thing that might supercede his love for computers is his love for his wife and two daughters. If you can exchange computer software with him, you have a friend for life. He computerizes his students' grades, and at the end of each cycle he hands them out on strips of computer paper that are so complicated, it takes half a period to decipher them. But Mr. Sefczek contests, "It's so bloody simple".

A true Frenchman, Mr. Jean-Pierre can teach the fine art of wine-tasting in less than fifteen minutes. The last person to almost major in Astronomy at Georgetown University, Mr. Sefczek displayed his love of astronomy by looking for Halley's Comet every day for a month. When asked about college, he replies, "It's the most work you'll ever do in your life, but it's also the most fun you'll ever have." — even more fun than dissecting owl vomit and memorizing the periodic table.

When asked why he likes teaching, he said that he can always present information and materials in new and fun ways. Of course, each year there are more students with whom to work and become friends. His knowledge, personality and love of teaching make Mr. Sefczek a legend in our time.

"B" — Butter, Ballet Bake, Baryshnikov

"Nothing says that you can't like what you're doing, even though it's your job." The teacher in Colonia High School who lives by this is Miss Linda Terry, Home Economics teacher.

Miss Terry has been teaching at Colonia for ten years. Perhaps it was her seventh grade Home Ec teacher who inspired her to join the teaching profession. We think it's simply that she enjoys being with kids.

Fairness is one thing that Miss Terry believes important in teaching. She feels that the learning process and the enjoyment process can occur simultaneously. Being an ogre is just not part of her make-up.

Speaking of make-up, have you noticed the change in Miss Terry in the last two years? Is it just make-up? Not even close! Color Me Beautiful took over and the new Miss Terry emerged. The results were better than positive. They brought out the best in an already fine lady.

Her true colors really come out in the summer, her favorite time of year. However, Miss Terry shows her school colors as an avid supporter of the football and basketball teams. In the past, her colors were those of an advisor, first with the units and briefly with the yearbook.

Miss Terry firmly believes that cooking is much more than simply preparing a meal. She is extremely interested in nutrition and thoroughly enjoys teaching it as much as making Shrimp Parmagiana.

Outside of school, Miss Terry's interests range from knitting (beginner) to shopping (master) to the ballet and Baryshnikov. The huge poster of Mikhail Baryshnikov in her room is obviously what keeps the smile on her face all day.

Being the positive person that she is has had far-reaching effects on many. These are the students who might need a helping hand, yet they remain unknown to us. Miss Terry knows them and reaches out to help. She is there making her presence felt, as only a legend can.

"Let's Get Physical"

MRS. SARNA

What could CPR and luscious desserts possibly have in common? They're both things that Mrs. Lynn Sarna does extremely well.

Love of sports is what brought Lynn Sarna to the teaching profession eleven years ago; love of working with kids keeps her here. Though physical education was initially her field, health won out and she has been teaching juniors and seniors here ever since. She is extremely concerned that students know how to give CPR. Lucky for us, she is very knowledgeable. Two years ago, she was instrumental in saving the life of a Colonia High School senior who fell ill in school. Her quick thinking earned her a commendation from the Board of Education, along with the eternal gratitude of a young man's family.

Mrs. Sarna is no stranger to honors. The Union High School adult school honored her recently with two shocking-pink golf balls from the golf class. Speaking of honors, let's not forget the Units. Mrs. Sarna was once the advisor of the units along with Miss Terry. She also did her stint with the cheerleaders and last but not least — the yearbook.

Hobbies that keep Mrs. Sarna very busy are ceramics, needlepoint and cross stitch. The list of favorite things in Mrs. Sarna's life is a bit longer. Eggplant and BLT's head the food list, and Perrier washes it all down. Baking, collecting new recipes, and preparing desserts have their place on the list. The list comes to an end with two names — Brett, her new nephew, and Mercury, her all-time favorite dog.

Someone once described Mrs. Sarna as "always willing to help." Since we see by past achievements that the statement is true, we simply say thanks for being a member of our exclusive club — the legends.

MR.
SAM BARBATO

"I Enjoy Being the Boss."

The white-haired man moves methodically from room to room on the second floor of Colonia High School. He is meticulous in the maintenance of his domain. His pride won't let him be any other way. That's the way we see the man known as Sam Barbato, night foreman of Colonia's custodians.

At times he resembles a Biblical figure, complete with staff in hand. Sam does not go back quite that far, but he has been a part of Colonia High School since its beginning. Prior to Colonia, he was a very busy man — always as the boss.

Sam worked for the government in his earlier years. From there, he worked in construction for awhile. Then he went to Avenel Junior High School and Iselin Junior High School before coming to Colonia in 1967. He's been a part of our school ever since.

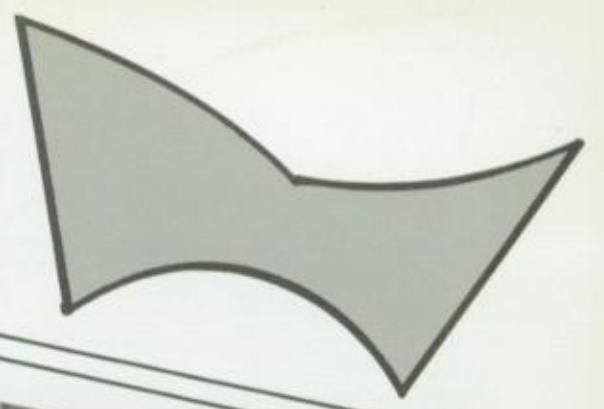

On the subject of staff members, Sam believes that Colonia has an extremely cooperative group of people. He enjoys working here and believes that the staff and Mr. Sanislow have made his job enjoyable. Likewise, he is pleased with his own men who work diligently to maintain Sam's high standards.

We found out that Sam has two women in his life. Don't worry — we're not giving away any secrets. He thinks that his wife is an angel and he is very devoted to her. The other woman — his 27 year old daughter — is definitely daddy's little girl. As devoted as he is to his "girls," so they are devoted to him. They cook his favorite food and spoil him terribly. For this, he is grateful and proud.

It seems that Sam is a man full of pride — his family, his job, his life. Our thanks to you, Sam, for having pride in Colonia High School.

Music Makes Us See

It's often been said that a crisis brings people closer together. This has never been proven more thoroughly than in the past year or so, as dozens of talented popular artists lifted their voices in the history-making effort to benefit those less fortunate than themselves.

The movement first began in England, when a group known as Band-Aid topped the charts with "Do They Know It's Christmas?", a tune recorded to raise funds for Ethiopian famine victims. The impact was tremendous, and soon forty-five American artists, among them Lionel Richie and Michael Jackson (the songwriters), Ray Charles, Tina Turner, Cyndi Lauper, Diana Ross, Hewey Lewis, and Bob Dylan, along with producer Quincy Jones, chimed in as U.S.A. for Africa. Organized by Harry Belafonte, their various voices blended harmoniously during the post-Grammy, 10-hour recording session of "We Are the World."

Canadian stars, including Bryan Adams, Joni Mitchell, and Neil Young, formed their own group, Northern Lights, with their message "We Can Make a Difference," which raised $1.8 million.

On July 13, 1985, simultaneous concerts in London and Philadelphia were organized by Bob Geldof and featured acts such as David Bowie, Madonna, Crosby, Stills and Nash, Phil Collins, Paul McCartney, Tina Turner, and Mick Jagger. Groups that had long broken up, such as Led Zeppelin and The Who, put aside their differences as they reunited in compassion. For the first time, a rock group from the Soviet Union was broadcast worldwide. The 17-hour performance was known as Live-Aid, another African benefit concert which made the 1 billion plus viewers of 152 countries realize that we do have the power to improve our world.

While hunger in Ethiopia was recognized as tragic, issues in America did not go ignored. New Jersey's own denim-clad Bruce Springsteen raised money on his "Born in the U.S.A." tour to combat poverty in the United States.

Rock duo Daryll Hall and John Oates gave a special free concert to "Save the Lady" as her torch, specially transported to the Philadelphia gathering, shone like an inspirational beacon in the background.

Willie Nelson, John Cougar Mellencamp, and other country and pop stars united for Farm Aid, an effort to raise cash to assist unfortunate farmers going through hard times brought on by the nation's economy. The 15-hour show in Champaign, Illinois, raised $10 million and congressional support to "Keep America Growing."

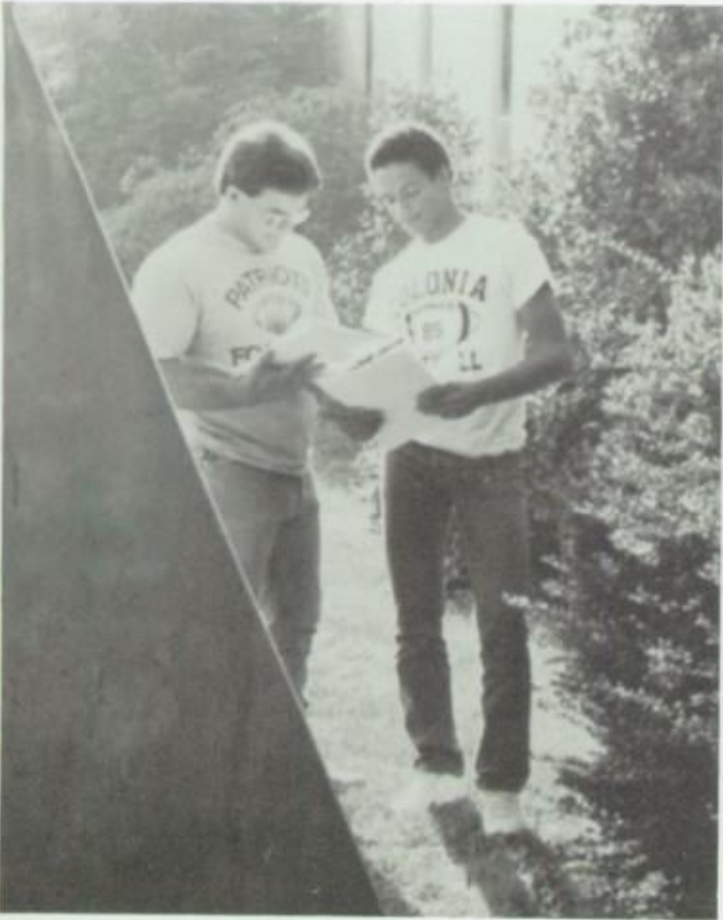

On a more political note, Little Steven Van Zandt and more than fifty colleagues, as Artists United Against Apartheid, sang out against oppressive government in South Africa.

Music also had an influence in other areas, such as medicine. Dionne Warwick, Elton John, Stevie Wonder, and Gladys Knight, under the name "Dionne and Friends," philanthropically recorded a melody to raise funds to discover a cure for AIDS. Their song, "That's What Friends Are For," shows that while others are suffering, it is up to the remainder of the population to assume the moral responsibility of relieving their anguish.

Many entertaining and touching tunes were generated from these efforts of the music industry to improve the world of the 1980's. The songs stimulated our social conscience. Their lyrics were, and still are meaningful to the audiences because behind every word, every note is a strong sense of purpose.

"Hold Fast To Dreams . . . "

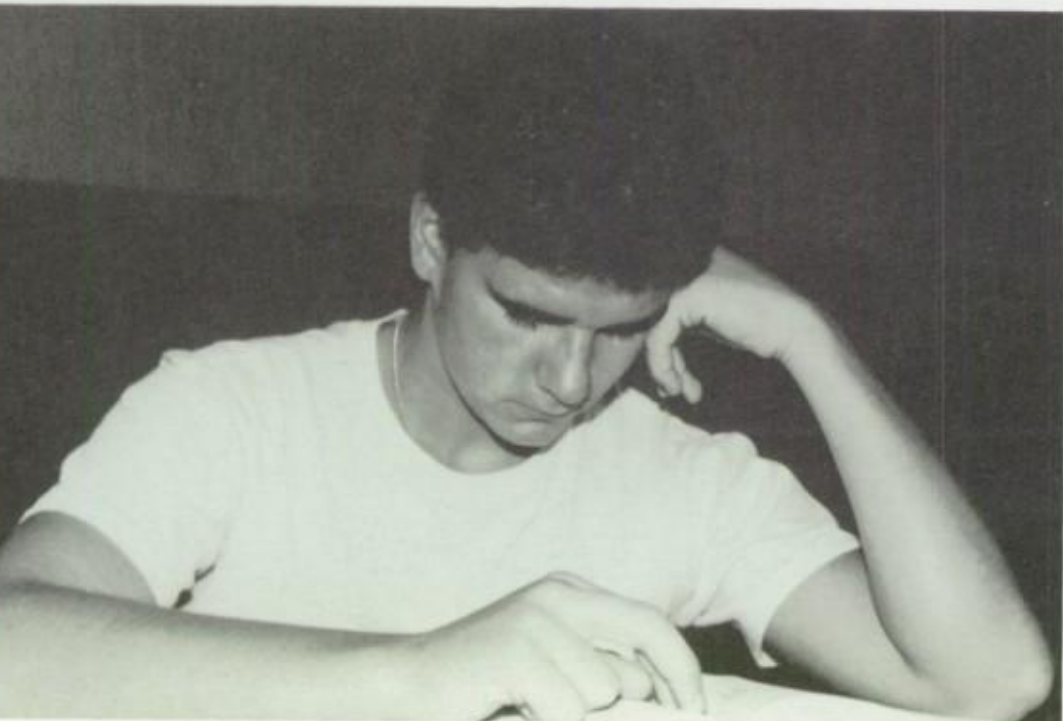

1986 — a year of promise. How sad to think that our hopes were destroyed with the space shuttle Challenger. We watched as seven brave men and women gave their lives because they had hope.

The country mourned and the "Teacher Mission" would soon be forgotten. Yet students across the country will long remember the young woman from New Hampshire who wanted to be a part of it all. She believed that the "advantages were greater than the risks." She challenged America's children to "reach for the world beyond their grasp, to pursue excellence, not to be afraid to fail." She spoke as any concerned teacher would, forcing us to believe in ourselves.

Growing and maturity are continuous processes that help us to learn from our mistakes. Just as we are fallible, so many of us believe that we don't escape fate. Nevertheless, we should never stop striving for perfection. Perfection requires us to examine our mistakes and take the proper actions to insure that we not only remedy the problems, but also surpass our original goal. The seven astronauts on the Challenger interpreted the flight as a method of growing and reaching that state of perfection. If we stop the space program because of this tragedy, we will be doing them an injustice. They would have died for nothing, and we surely owe them more than that!

As a nation, we united in our sorrow. Now we must unite again. This time, we must find our errors and correct them. Only then will we be able to say that we have not deserted the dreams of the Challenger team. We will see 1986 as a year of promise — promise for the future.

"Hold fast to dreams
For if dreams die
Life is a broken-winged bird
That cannot fly . . . "
Langston Hughes

Working 5' to 9'

"Get a job!" That's exactly what many Colonia High students have done and continue to do when they're not in school. Part-time jobs are a good way for students to earn money and gain useful experience. Because jobs are "part-time," they usually do not take away from social life or academic responsibilities. Of course, the choice is an individual one. Only the student himself/herself can decide what his priorities are.

Jobs are an important part of many students' future lives. By working part-time, they often find it easier to adjust to their careers after high school or college. Also, students can learn to be more social because certain jobs involve contact with different types of people. Additionally, the experience of applying for a job, filling out an application or going to an interview is usually repeated many times. As a result, the experience earned while working can be very valuable for any student.

Aside from these reasons, the most important advantage of having a job is money. This gives the student the financial freedom to get involved, and allows him/her to take responsibility for himself/herself. College or dream car, Saturday date or new jeans — the reason is unimportant; the fact is that money is essential for survival.

Just exactly what kinds of jobs are out there? The variety of jobs for students is almost endless. Woodbridge Center, the home of a hundred plus stores, is also the home of Colonia's high school work force. Traveling south, students find Menlo Park Mall, which also provides work opportunities for the students. Fast-food havens are not just places to go for a snack. McDonald's and Burger King are part of the list of places where Colonia's students can have it their way. In Colonia proper, Foodtown, Drug Fair and most recently, Medimart have added to the vast number of places that employ Colonia's students. Though each job has its own responsibility, they are similar in that students are taking on obligations that will hopefully prepare them for the future.

Perhaps the least recognized advantage of part-time jobs is the satisfaction that results from a job well done. Satisfaction may not buy a dream car or pay for college, but it goes a long way in insuring a positive self-image. Everyone knows that people with good self-images and positive attitudes are always successful.

There's No Easy Way Out

It's Saturday morning and you're getting ready for school. Either you're having a nightmare or today's the day for you to take the SAT's. This day has been marked on your calendar for the past month, a month of hoping this day won't arrive. However, its time to go, so you grab your admissions ticket, proper identification, and two number two pencils, even though you know plenty will be supplied for you. You get to school early, possibly the first time in the last month, and talk to your friends about how stupid it is to have to get up early and come to school on a Saturday.

The moment finally arrives when the names and rooms are posted. Slowly, you stroll to the room taking the longest possible route without getting ridiculous. Once your ticket and ID have been checked, you're given a test booklet and answer sheet, and told for the hundredth time: "put your last name first and your first name last". Now the fun begins. Because you live in the computer age, you have to spend the next three hours filling in dots. But you shouldn't worry because you'll be given a minute break between tests.

Finally when its over, you hand in your answer sheet hoping it has some correct responses. If not, it may display your wonderful talent as a dot artist. Nevertheless, it's finished, only to arrive from the dead several weeks later when the famous line spoken is: "What did you get on the SAT's?"

For those of you who have decided that SAT's are not the thing for you, your day comes with the CAT's. These are preferred over the SAT's, mainly because they are taken during three hours of homeroom, not three hours of sleeptime. The testing procedure is just about the same as before except no identification is needed and the CAT's last for three days. Unlike the SAT's, there is usually no preparation and few people know what the tests are for. They're just the infamous "cat" test which seems to have no significance at all in your life.

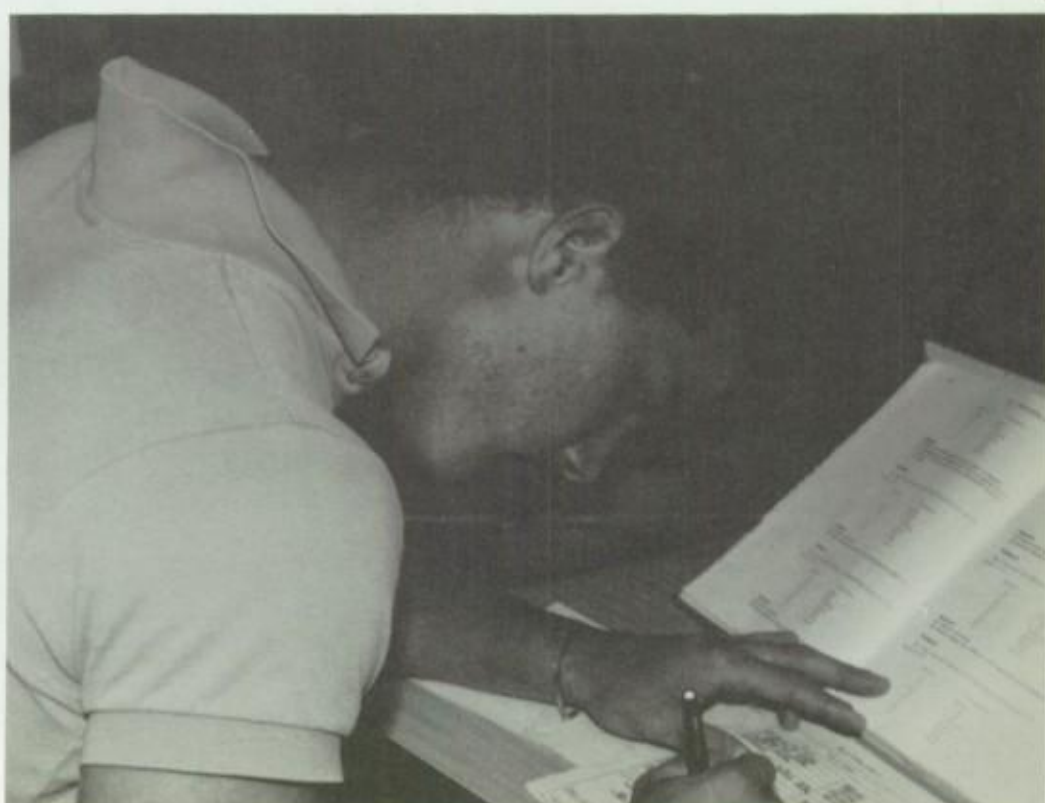

Just recently a new test has been added to the ever-expanding list. Final exams are here and they're here to stay. This important test expects you to remember in June what you learned in September. Furthermore, this counts as one-fifth of your final grade for that course! (the nerve of some people) Some finals aren't only multiple choice, or more frequently, multiple guess. Courses such as History and English actually expect you to write something!

The least taken tests are the Achievements. Ranging from the more common subjects, such as Math or English, to the sciences and foreign languages, these allow you to choose which type to take. If you're thinking you'd rather choose none, some colleges require these for admission.

Achievements are similar to the SAT's, except for English Composition which has you do what the name implies. In one way these are better because you can take less than the maximum three tests at a time and be at the testing center for less than three hours. However, these also take place on a Saturday and seriously cut into your sleeptime.

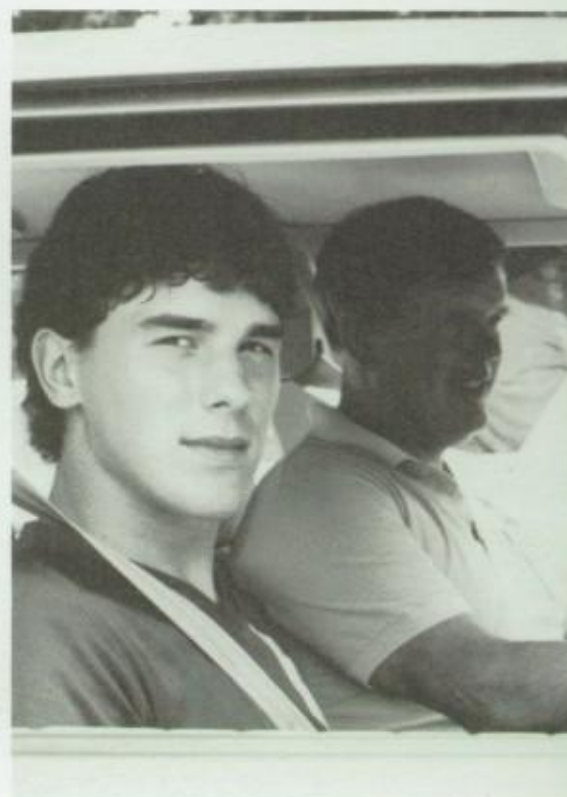

This last test is the most popular — taken at least once a week in at least one of your classes. Besides "test", it is given euphemisms such as quiz, cumulative, chapter review, practical, and even "action", but it is still a test. Number two pencils usually aren't required, ID isn't needed, sleeptime isn't wasted, (except, perhaps, while studying), and homeroom doesn't last half the day, but it is still important, perhaps the most of all. In addition to the others, this massive amount of testing shows everyone that your knowledge is increasing.

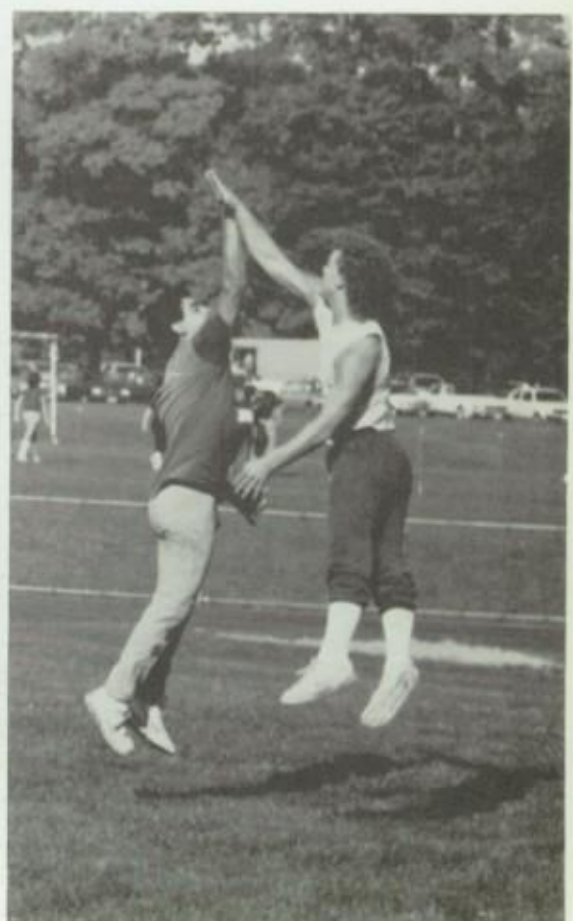

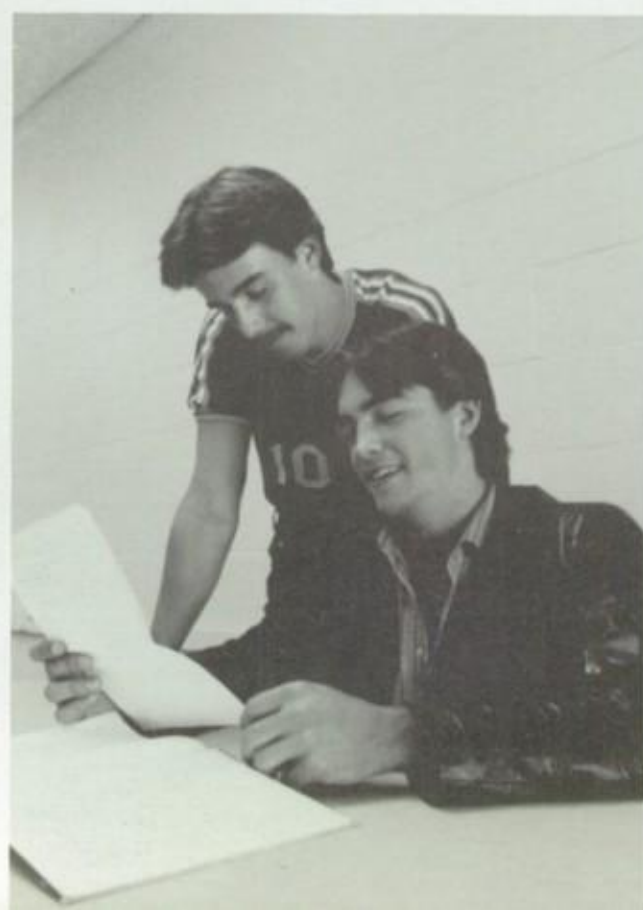

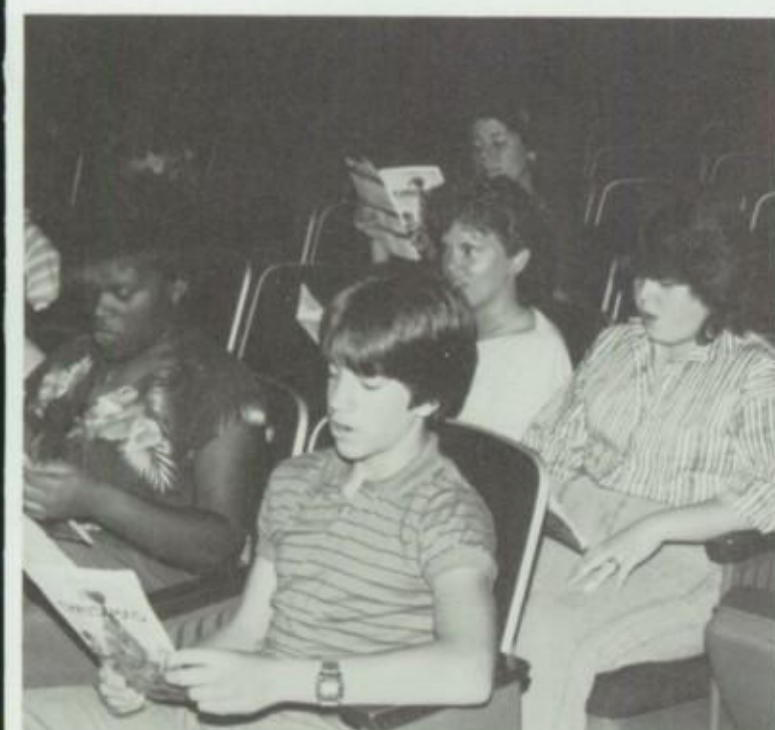

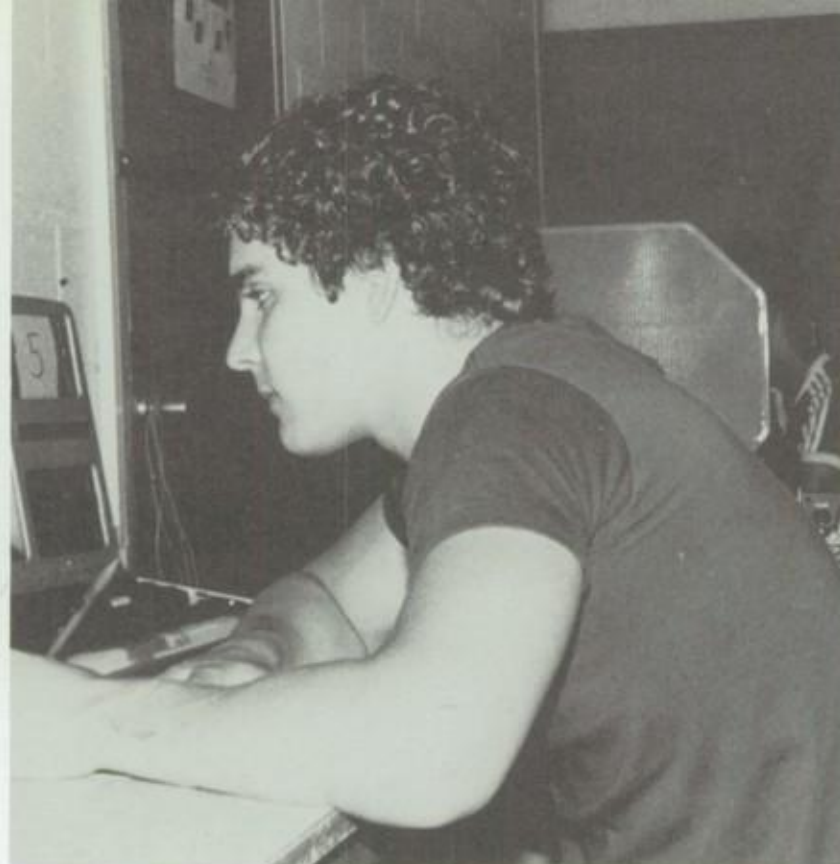

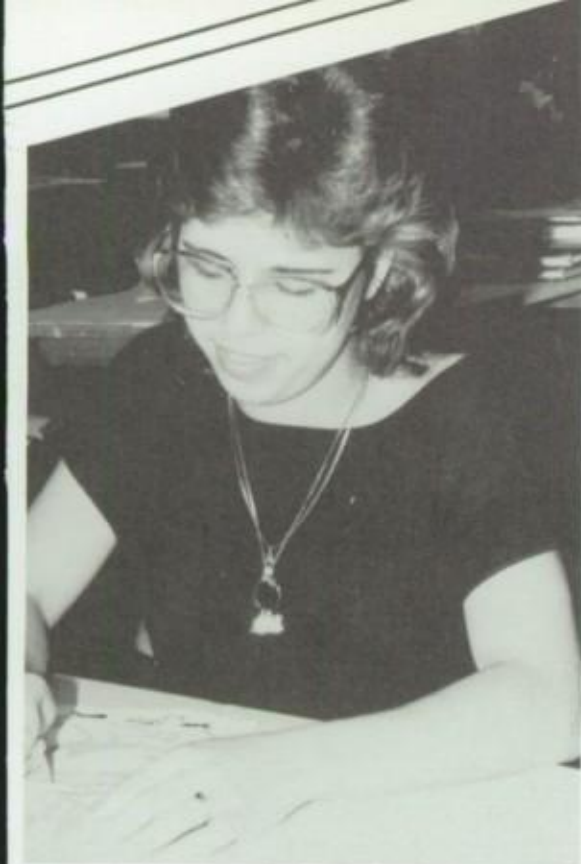

With this increasing knowledge, your future can be bigger and brighter and . . . who cares? The year's just about over! Make it through these last few days and you can live it up for the next two months because SUMMER IS HERE!

Fiddler on the Roof

One side of the auditorium doors read "Welcome to Anatevka." The other side should have read "Return to Reality." Endless hours of rehearsal later, Jones Brothers included, we regressed into one large family Tevye. — which was good!

We all lived in simple peace and harmony. Despite plastered leg and drooping bottle-hat, Allison and Stacey combined to form Chava. Linda and Amy were adorable as Tevye's youngest, Biekle and Shprintze — or am I confused? As for couples, "Lazar" Margolin, though wifeless, kept his five diseased chickens.

"Yente" Cassell was repeatedly good in "The Rumor" scene, though shuddering at Mr. Patten's call for "another run-through." Special cast thanx to two Russians, "Constable" Picciotti and "Fyedka" Urbanik.

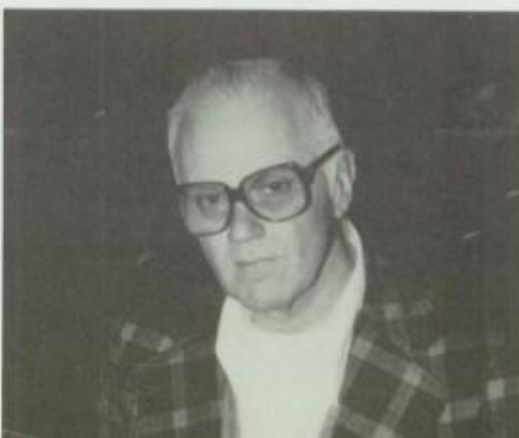

"Mendel" Collins and his noises and "Perchik" Cruise and "Hodel" Gaetano all survived. "Motel" Jasny's hand almost didn't after "Golde" stepped on it. The Sues — "Golde" Amory and "Tzeitel" Sohayda, were Sexy and Gorgeous!! "Tzeitel" did wonders with a mop and "Golde" patented the "Squelch." "Tevye" Goldstein couldn't sit on a milkcan, but his chicken squawk is unforgettable.

Closing night was sad for the Fiddler cast; the standing ovation was welcome. We remembered the chaos, the joy, the blessings and bruising. I can only say "It was a miracle!" L'Chaim! — Motel

Marching Melodies

When the half ends at Colonia's football games, the excitement doesn't stop. The Marching Patriots advance on to the field and prepare to entertain the fans. As Drum Majorette Kim Leiningner blows the whistle, the band comes to life and steps off to the first of several melodies. Their musical numbers include "America the Beautiful", "God Bless America", "The Magnificent Seven", and "California Girls". When they finish their routine, the band returns to the stands satisfied with another job well done. The football team takes the field to finish their battle.

This is a common scene at our home games. The Band spends many hours of hard work perfecting their routines, resulting in invitations to join many local parades. The Colonia Band continues to excel in its many competitions. The school can look forward to many years of fine marching band performances.

Waving New Colors

COLOR GUARD

Colonia's Color Guard introduced a wonderful new form of performance this year. For the first time ever, spirited pom-poms flashed through the air on the field during halftime and along the parade route. With the help of advisor Pat Jones, Captain Racquel Page, and Co-Captains Melody Murray, Elizabeth Troyano, and Kristen Perkowski, the new colors added life and energy to the units. This supplement to the flag routines added hours to the already long practices. Creating new techniques and drills required a great deal of dedication; however, the work was worth the effort. The 1985-86 Color Guard displayed CHS's colors, through the traditional flags and new pom-poms, with the enthusiastic pride of a Colonia Marching Unit.

A Banner Year

If you attend a Colonia High football game or watch a local parade, you cannot help but notice the foremost unit of the marching Patriots. Proudly carrying the American flag and a blue and gold school banner, the members protect the honor these emblems represent with their long brown muskets and a glistening sword. Though small in size, this unit displays the most military style, making the Honor Guard the "true Patriots".

Under the leadership of Captain Donna Schneider and Co-Captain Jackie Wall, this unit gives spectators their initial impression of our great Colonia High. Their form results from hours of practice under the supervision of their advisor, Ms. Nancy Baldante.

In the future, come to where the honorable Patriots march and see Colonia show it's true colors.

The 21-Gun Salute

DRILL TEAM

As the fighting Patriots take the field to engage in another battle of strength and strategy, Colonia's Drill Team raises its guns high to salute and defend the Rebels from the fierce opposition.

These girls dedicated much of their free time to take part in the glory and excitement of each football game or to proudly represent our school at the many activities in which Colonia participates, such as Christmas and Loyalty Day parades. The excitement is at its peak when they take part in the Saint Patrick's Day parade, marching down 5th Avenue in New York City.

Captain Joanne Rich, with the help of Co-Captains Darlene Colucci and Lisa Kosty, leads the Drill Team with much determination. The brief moment on the field is only a part of the time they spend honoring the team. Throughout the game, the girls take their places in the stands giving the Patriots their own version of the 21-gun salute.

Featuring Sparkles and Sequins

TWIRLERS

The Twirling section of the Colonia Marching Patriots is different from the other units in its own special way. Nancy Coughlin, dressed in a sequin outfit, is Colonia High's feature, adding colorful excitement to the Patriots in 1985-86. Along with the other girls who splendidly twirl their sparkling batons, this small unit enhances the halftime shows and parades with the same determination as the other units.

Carolyn Brawn, the captain of this growing squad, guides the girls through their difficult routines. With the aid of Co-Captains Nancy Coughlin and Denise Dragos, the many practice sessions have paid off. The Twirlers are a wonderful addition to the school's Marching Patriots.

The Colonia football team of 1985-86 was a team that could be described in one word — hungry. We had a sense of pride and the gleam of glory right from the start of the season. An important drive came from the desire to prove that it was not a rebuilding year, but a winning one, and win we did. It might have surprised the papers, the coaches, and the school, but this team always knew it had the guts and determination to be winners. Not since 1975 had Colonia made it to the State Championship, and not since 1983 had Colonia made the top 10 in the state poll. Maybe we didn't "take it all" but our team gave Colonia pride.

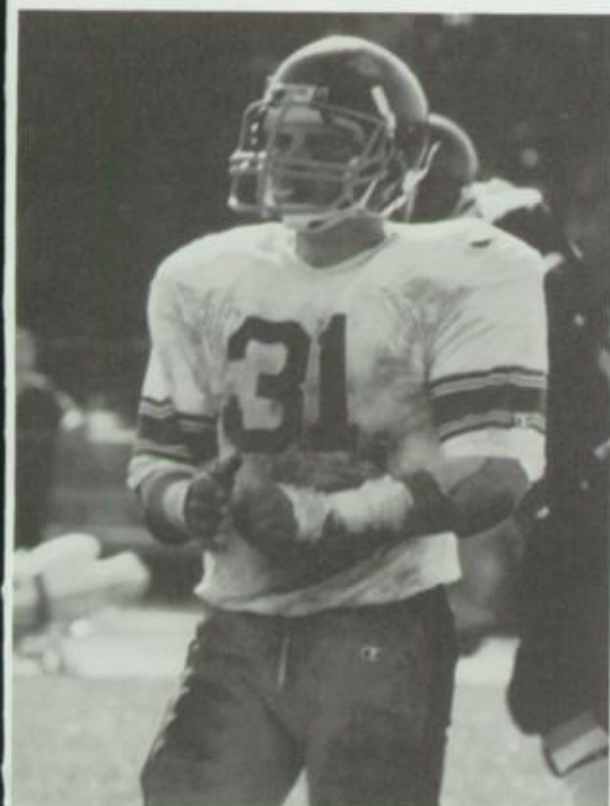

The memories will live on forever: how soundly we beat Madison and how scared we were before we realized that we had something going; the ultimate destruction of North Brunswick and the best week of hard practice; the heartbreaking loss under the lights of J.P. Stevens, possibly the most emotional moments we ever shared; the freezing rain at East Brunswick and how we finished off the Bears; and the heartbreaking field goal in the Championship game. Likewise, there are things only the football players will remember: Rebel "D" and Scrub "O"; the Nutcracker which the Seniors always won; Mr. Gleitzman's picture perfect form; Mr. Picaroni's hard nose drills; Mr. Jago's words of wisdom; Mr. Barbato's determination to mold us into winners; the Gene Machine "psyche" before and after the games; Joe with his hat and truck; and Linda giving out eye black.

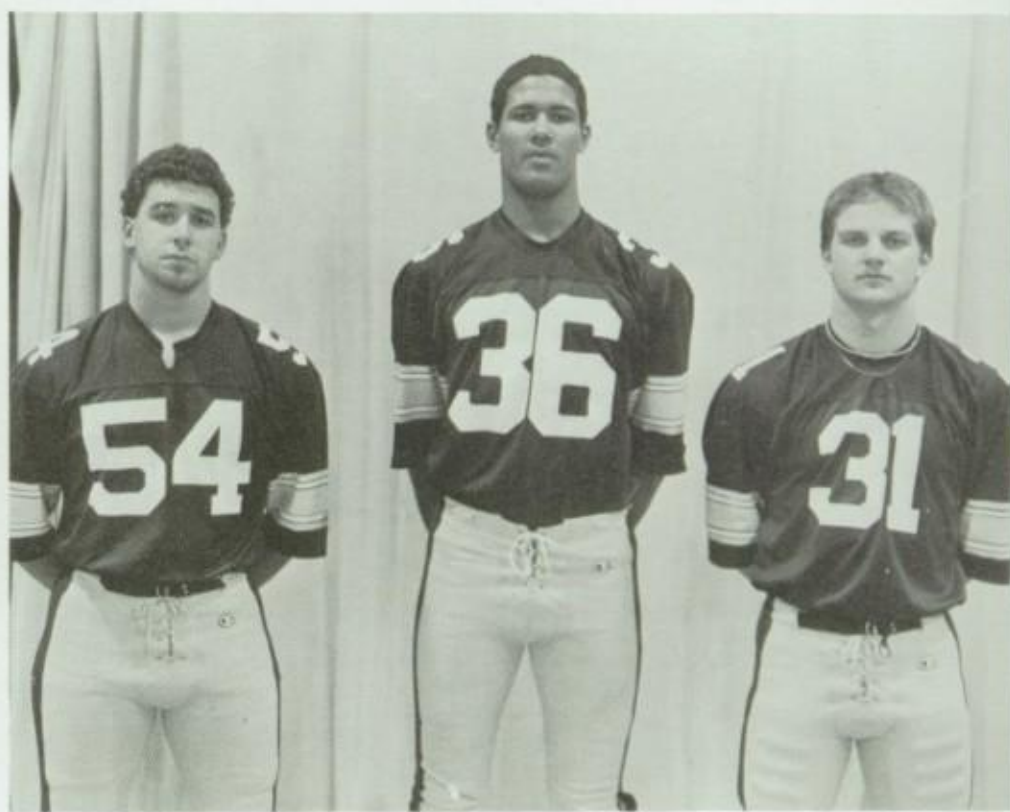

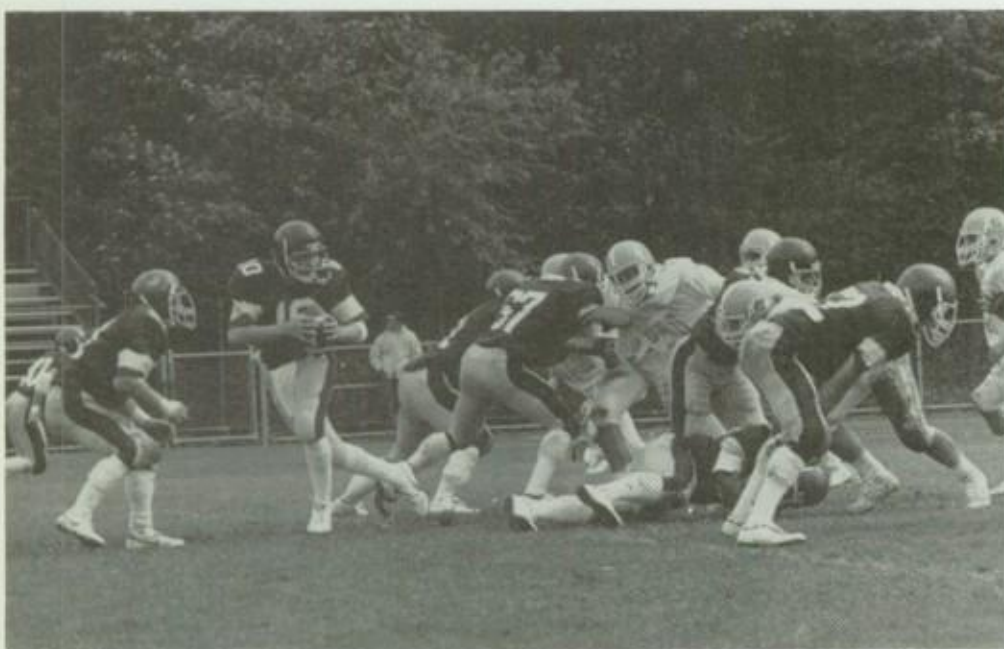

The season has ended, yet it will always live in our minds. Only a handful will go on and continue to play. We'll probably never play together again. Years from now, the 1985-86 season will be remembered as a year of winners.

A Blaze of Glory

There are many misconceptions about soccer and soccer players. We stand in the shadows of the juggernaut football team. In the years to come, only one thing will bring Colonia a great team — school support! In the end, when someone is on the field playing his heart out, the difference will be who has more the reason to win.

Colonia High School Soccer doesn't know the meaning of taking it easy. Every practice day is a back breaker. We have the heart; we just lack the talent needed to beat those schools who excel because of very well-developed youth leagues.

One good thing came out of this season though. We did beat last year's Varsity record by one game. That might not mean much to many, but to those who were on the field during that last game, it meant everything. It was not only senior pride, but it was the fact that the seniors left in a wonderful Blaze of Glory. Most of all, we must thank Coach Ray Perez, who never gave up on us, and did what was humanly possible to help us. His dedication has not been forgotten and we say to him, "Thanks for those Whistle Drills, Coach. We hated them, but we needed them." — B. Naumenko

Reason to be Proud

Trapping the ball with her knees, my teammate dribbled downfield. Suddenly, the members of the opposing team let up their guard. We made eye contact, as she passed me the ball. Maneuvering cautiously but skillfully through the enemy occupied field, I advanced toward the opposition's goal area. After giving a swift forceful kick, I watched the ball arc above the goalie's head and rebound quickly into the netting. The blood rushed to my face as my teammates cheered the goal, knowing that I couldn't have done it without them.

Led by captains Lisa Fleischer and Kate Pillet, and co-captain Kristen Prezlowski, the Colonia Girl's Soccer team approached each game of the rough season with vigor and enthusiasm. Dedicated coaches Mr. Kott and Mr. Tisdale, who helped the team persevere through the trying times, further enhanced these feelings. If future teams approach their sport with an equally intense desire to win, Colonia will continue to have reason to be proud.

Serves, lobs, overheads, shortshots, net action — TENNIS!

With the nine team members constantly vying for positions, practices were grueling and extremely competitive. Matches lasted for over three tiresome hours but when someone was victorious, the thrill washed away all pain and fatigue, leaving satisfaction. Although tennis isn't regarded as a serious sport, it nevertheless requires a conditioned body and a lot of concentration.

The Colonia Girls' Tennis had fun and gained experience through playing; however, victories were a little tough to come by. The team was very young, consisting of no seniors, four veterans, and five newcomers. A major asset to the team was Miss Saylor who, as tennis coach for the first time, pulled the team together. Although the team didn't have a winning season, Captains Randi Levitin and Nancy Rubin led the way in keeping the team enthusiastic.

Just remember: The sun is bound to shine after a rainfall. Like the sun, the girls' tennis team will shine again — perhaps next season!

a Source of Pride

Standing at the starting line. The gun sounds. Off I go, up and down the many hills, three miles of torture ahead of me. I know it won't be easy, but I go on. I hope it's not too cold, nor too hot. I hope it's not too wet, nor too slippery. Cramps are a constant plague, and every step feels as if it will be my last. I try to keep my mind on other things. Short, choppy strides up the hills; long graceful strides down the hills. I see the finish line. Can I make it? It's a struggle, but I finish. I feel satisfied, knowing I have overcome my fears to triumph.

This season was different for the Patriot Cross-Country Team. We were winners, marking a new era for Colonia runners. For the boys' team, Co-captains were seniors Ron Urbanik and Ted Katramados, and junior John Mizak. Our team finished 8-2 and made a very respectable showing in both the county and sectional meets. For the first time in years, running against the Patriots was a source of concern for other Middlesex County foes. The progress that had begun with last year's .500 record continued into the 1985-86 season.

The girls' team, led by Captains Marcy Dell and Michele Sak, was seen running through the streets and playgrounds of Merrill Park during the entire season. The hours of training, practicing no matter what the weather was like outside, paid off and the Patriots had a strong showing in all meets. Improving past records was a goal and an accomplishment this season.

Thanks to our brave leaders, Coaches Kreiger and Gonda, these teams reached heights never before imaginable. The potential evident at the beginning of the season had come to fruition by year's end. From now on, Patriot runners will prove to be a source of pride for the entire school. — Ted Katramados

Cheering —

Colonia cheerleaders are not merely side shows for football and basketball games. Whether they are in competition, on the sideline, or in a parade, Colonia High's cheerleaders represent our school's spirit, pride, and dedication to excellence. Practicing many hours a week with the help of advisor, Miss Schmidtke, assistant advisors, Miss Kiyak, Miss LaMotta, and Mr. Spagnoletti, and the leadership of Captain Kelly Fischer and Co-Captain Tracy Wood, insures that their routines are picture perfect. In order to succeed as a cheerleader, one must be a dedicated team player who is willing to sacrifice long hours after school and on weekends. Cheering is a year-round sport which requires practice, great athletic ability, and determination. Giving one hundred percent of oneself all the time is a difficult task. But the sense of self-satisfaction and accomplishment one feels in participating and excelling at such a demanding activity is well worth the hardships.

Pulling Together With Pride

BASKETBALL

Our Colonia Patriots basketball team, once again led by Coaches Tisdale and Kreiger, started off a little shaky with two successive losses to Elizabeth and Franklin in the Minutemen Christmas Tournament. However, as the season progressed, we pulled together as a good team should.

After losing to East Brunswick, our last season schedule loss, we began to dominate our conference. A twelve game winning streak gave us the title and undefeated record in the White Division of the Greater Middlesex County.

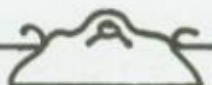

Senior co-captains Mark Kleiman and Robert Haines led our team to victory with supporting juniors, Gary Battle, Tony Severini, and myself, Fred Herzog. Russell O'Sullivan and Jim Waltsak rounded out the starting line-up. Leading scorers were Kleiman and Battle with almost 15 points per game while Haines was busy controlling the boards. Severini and I averaged close to ten while O'Sullivan pumped in 15, or close to it, on several occasions. This balanced attack gave us greater depth than past teams.

After a heartbreaking loss to Perth Amboy in the first round of the county tournament, the players and coaches knew the states were all we had left. Our team worked hard in practices and it showed. In the first round, we knocked out a tough West-Windsor team by five, and advanced to the semi-finals against number one seed, Bridgewater West. With tight defense and a determined heart, we upset the quick team from Bridgewater in double OT and rolled on to the Central Jersey Group III Championship game against Ewing. A poor shooting night ended our season and hopes of being state champs.

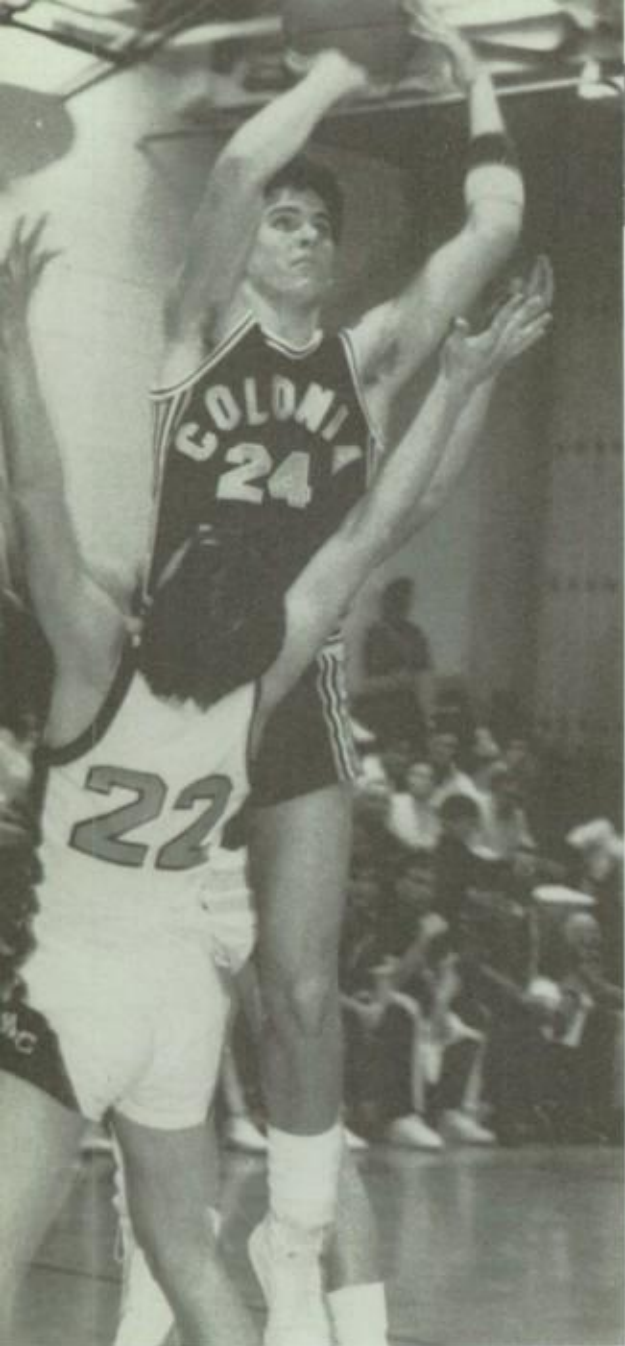

Although we did not win as big as we would have liked to, we still had a great deal to be proud of. We maintained the record of 20 plus victories for the third straight season, and kept alive the thirty plus home game winning streak. It was a year the team and fans would look back on as a great season.

Knee Deep in the Hoopla . . .

Overshadowed by the boys' awesome squad, the girls' basketball team gives the other half an opportunity to play this great game. Throughout the season, each player demonstrated the one dominant characteristic of this team; dedication. Preparation consisted of rigorous, time-consuming drills that pushed each girl to her limit. Those skills were then used to their fullest in each game. The fear of defeat was always evident in the competitors as Colonia's team pushed for a winning score. The team's victories, such as the win over Edison, were both outstanding and memorable.

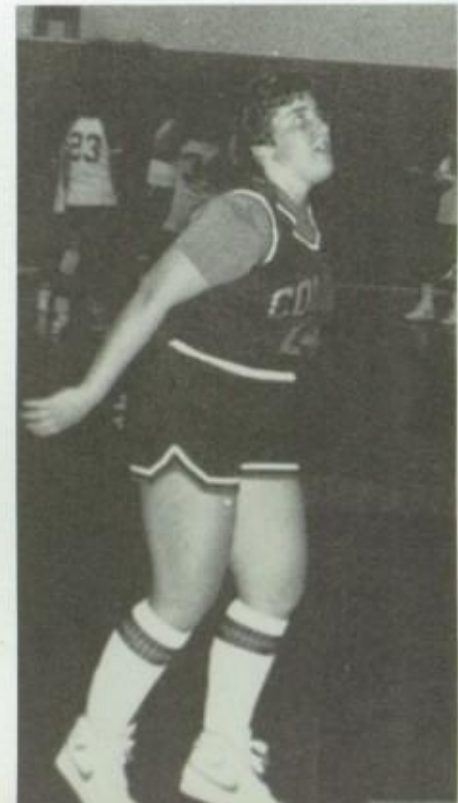

The team was led by the devoted captains, Maureen Mazur and Jennifer Albanese. Besides showing leadership qualities, these girls led the team in scoring, and enhanced the performances of the others. Overall, the team had another notable season under the coaching of Ms. Saylor.

"No Pain, No Gain!"

What do you call someone who is always dieting, putting on three pairs of sweats to shed a few unwanted pounds in order to make weight, and working as hard as possible in the weight room? Who's always grunting, groaning, and gritting teeth to go those few extra minutes in practice, only to find Coaches Perez, Newmark, and Danch piling on some "weighty" toys? We're wrestlers, working till we're ready to drop! Through the blood, sweat, and tears, the only glory comes at the end of the match when your hand is raised. It is the most incredible feeling of accomplishment and pride imaginable. This is why wrestlers are a "breed apart." We're not afraid to subject our minds and bodies to self-discipline. The muscles that ache and bones that bruise are non-existent on the mats of Colonia High School. We feel "no pain, no gain!" The aches are overcome — just to be a wrestler.

Neither Rain, Sleet, or Fear of Cold . . .

W T R A C K

Neither rain, nor sleet nor fear of cold weather keeps the CHS track team member from his appointed destiny — practice. Sounds a little exaggerated, but they know about the rigors before they join — and join anyway! Some find it the best way to prepare for spring sports. Other enjoy being on a team where individual goals are one. Still others participate for self-gratification. Whatever their reasons, the athletes have the same pride that makes them give their best.

Led by coaches Barbato, Jago, and Latham, the team was guided by capt. John Mizak and co-capt. Paul Kuzma, Seth Golubchick, and Michele Sak. They were the inspiration to their team. Soph. Don Ferraro and jr. John Goodheart turned in consistently strong performances to help the Colonia cause. The 1986 team was a young one and most of the squad will return next year. They'll bring with them the high hopes and competitive spirit necessary to win.

High Rollers for Colonia were . . .

BOWLING

People don't usually applaud falling down, but Colonia High School makes an exception when it comes to their bowling team. In the true Colonia spirit, Captains Pat Nardone and Amy Stein kept things rolling — if you'll pardon the expression. The success of the team was a concerted effort of a team, not one or two individuals. Every match brought with it the enthusiasm that was a part of winning. Coach Richard Clark helped the pins fall with his non-stop support.

Seniors Amy Stein, Rachel Carmean, Carol Bodeck, Nick Biamonte, Allen Chesner, Scott LeWand, and Lawrence Margolin gave their all as they have in the past. It is now the job of the underclassmen to watch, learn, and continue the tradition that is truly Colonia.

FINAL IMPRESSIONS

The "Impressionists"

HEY!! Don't pass over these pages only because you know your picture isn't here. Stop and take a look at the people who created the ARCH 1986 yearbook. Years from now you may better appreciate the long hours and hard work these people put into the yearbook; it may be the only way to stir up old high school memories by preserving the impressions of people, places, and events that have made the 1985-86 school year a special one for all of us. We did not take on this responsibility as editors so that we could put in color candids of ourselves. We dedicated ourselves to the yearbook in order to leave a lasting mark of our class' accomplishments, showing that the class of 1986 is a class of WINNERS! We hope that you enjoy the book, and continue to keep the spirit and pride that is Colonia.

Dear Yearbook Staff,

Three years as the yearbook advisor have taught me one very important lesson about myself: I find it very difficult to say good-bye to people I care about. Additionally, I am at a loss when it comes to saying thank you. Your time and energy have resulted in yet another fine Colonia yearbook; for that, I am very grateful.

To Lauren and Darren, I give my special thanks. You have been unremitting in your pursuit of perfection. Though you should have tired long before the end, you did not. You were mindful only of the job that needed to be finished. Along with my thanks, accept the strong affection that I will always have for two fine, young people.

Love, Sara Chmielewski

“With a little help from our friends . . . ” Thanks to — Mrs. Chmielewski, whose snacks, encouragement, guidance, friendship, and love made the yearbook office a special place to work, laugh, and live in all year; and whose time and effort best shows her true love — for the students at CHS.

— Ms. Schmidtke, who managed to balance our money and take our pictures while simultaneously dealing with her own busy schedule . . . lucky for us, she enjoys sporting events!

— Mrs. Suhay, whose typing skill and ad organization helped us when we needed it.

— Walt Cichy, AKA “Werf”, who invited us to Christmas in Tinton Falls, and whose “absorbing” personality helped us through some rough times. We now know the definition of “friend.”

— Jon Lundell, HJ customer relations man, whose even-tempered personality kept everyone’s sanity ALMOST intact.

— Greg Costich, Lorstan’s good guy, who molded a quartet of senior girls into a picture-making machine.

— Lorstan, whose professional skills and willingness to help in the face of heavy odds let us breathe a little easier.

— Mr. Sanislow, whose love of the great outdoors made our senior picture possible and whose sincere concern for Colonia High School students made us proud to be a part of it.

— Len Olsen, whose interest in photography, and Donna Schneider, gave us good pictures and a co-editor who was an enormous help.

— Jackie Wall, whose typing ability came in handy, sometimes at a moment’s notice.

— Sue Rubin and Joe Dudajek, literary co-editors, who wrote when we needed copy and rewrote when we needed help, and to Joe who munched — whether we needed it or not.

— Michele Duchin, senior co-editor, who almost drowned in a colorful sea of senior pictures.

— Valerie Davis, business editor and senior co-editor, whose collars did not wrinkle under the weight of her paper-work load.

Barbra Schwietering, art editor, who is probably “arched out” by now.

— Denise Dragos, underclass editor, whose dedication to a sometimes tedious job helped highlight possible future editors.

— Missy Ellerman, fall sports editor, whose enthusiasm for the yearbook never faded.

— Karen Deller, for co-ordinating the faculty section.

— Underclass staff, whose untiring efforts for a cause other than their own make them very special to the class of 1986.

— Photography staff, Kim Rogers (co-ed.), Donna Schneider (co-ed.), Kim Leininger and Karen Foglia, CHS’ answer to 24 hour film developing.

— Bhavini Shah and Allison Kendrick, who never seemed to realize that they were just on the underclass staff. Maybe they thought they were young seniors?

— Ms. Kiyak and the main office staff, whose supply of white-out made us appear almost perfect.

— Mrs. Rotella, Mr. Hahn, and Miss Schmidtke, who had a special understanding of what a yearbook entailed and continued to be supportive.

— Mr. Jurjevich, who discovered that yearbook people, like English dept. people, will salvage anything — including old typewriters.

— The faculty, whose interest and cooperation made life and deadlines not as tough as they might have been.

— Custodians, especially Sam and Lou, who checked on us to see that we were okay, and often wondered if we really had homes.

— The parents of the yearbook staff, who understood that not only seniors came home late for dinner using the “yearbook work” excuse.

— Mrs. Brenner, who willingly gave up her son for the good of the yearbook and sometimes wondered why.

— Mrs. Schickler, who became Mrs. Chmielewski’s friend, because they shared a daughter.

— Mr. Chmielewski, whose understanding of late suppers and a tired wife were certainly appreciated.

Chris,

Well, I'm not gonna write as much as Suzy did, but I would like to tell you that I'm glad you were in the play. It gave me a chance to meet you and became good friends with you. You don't know how happy I am to have met you. Your warm smile and great sense of humor always brightened up my day. You are an intelligent person and sensitive, and all these attributes are a guarantee of your future success. Have a great summer and keep in touch. (381-5970) Don't ever change, yours great!

Chris,
I'm so glad that I got to meet an interesting & fun person like you. You were a great member of the Club, too bad it didn't work out. Oh well.
It was still fun. It was great having you to listen up on G & T period. I really liked not only you clothes but your lunches. To tell you the truth
I wish I would have met you earlier and we could have become better friends. I'm glad we were able to share thoughts on things most people don't appreciate.

Love,

Keep in touch, seriously,
I'd like to hear how you're doing 381-6770 or 381-7318.

Chris
It's been really friends
great being good friends with you. We've been through a lot together
The plays, the Unit...
It's been even better than having a friend who enjoys C.C. as much as I do. Have a nice summer.
